Envoy Returns to Cuba Amid Fresh Tension

Some Cheers, Few Jeers Greet Bonsal

Havana —U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal got a cheering welcome back from 500 Cubans yesterday but ran into a new barrage of anti-American blasts from two top Castro government officials.

Arriving with a smile, the American envoy made no mention of finding the official atmosphere as hostile as when he left Havana in a protest two months ago.

"I am glad to be here," Bonsal told an airport crowd that included some foreign diplomats. Premier Fidel Castro's government did not send an official representative, but this was not unusual.

Some Cheers

About 500 Cubans burst into cheers and applause as Bonsal left the plane. Shouts of "viva Bonsal" and "welcome to Cuba" rang out as he walked to his limousine. There also were a few shouts of "viva Fidel Castro" and "viva Cuba."

Bonsal said he would "do everything possible" to improve Cuban-American relations, now at a dangerously low ebb. There was no indication when he would pay his

Proposes 5-Year Test Moratorium

Russians Say Method of Policing Underground Blasts Will be Found

Geneva —U.S. Russia's Semyon K. Tsarapkin said today his proposed moratorium on small underground nuclear tests should remain in force for an initial research period of four or five years.

Tsarapkin said the United States, Britain and Russia should consult at the end of this period if a joint research program by then had failed to produce a method of policing underground tests.

But he stressed that he was "very optimistic" the scientists would produce results within four or five years.

Tsarapkin gave this estimate in clarification of the dramatic 2-point proposal he introduced into the 16-month-old 3-nation talks Saturday. The two inter-related parts of Tsarapkin's proposal were:

Accept Plan

1. The Soviet Union would accept President Eisenhower's plan for a treaty banning only those nuclear tests which can be policed with existing methods.

2. In return, the United States and Britain would join Russia in a moratorium—a promise to refrain from conducting the small underground tests not explicitly banned by the treaty—while conducting scientific research to extend

Thieves Get $150,000 In Jewelry During Swank Dinner Party

New York —Jewelry worth an estimated $150,000 and $5,150 in cash were stolen from the bedrooms of a 5th avenue penthouse while the occupants — a Florida real estate operator and his wife — entertained guests at dinner in the penthouse last night.

Victims of the burglary were Robert L. Wilson, about 52, and his wife, whom he married last Jan. 30.

Police said Mrs. Wilson is the widow of David T. Bonner, president of the Dynamics Corporation of America.

Wants Ads Good Way to Buy or Sell Any Week

Saturday was the close of national Want Ad week, a period set aside to salute the power of classified advertising and its many users.

While the official week is over, in reality every week is want ad week because more people use this form of advertising daily to reach more prospects than can be reached by any other means. Read and use the want ads to buy, sell or trade unused items spring housecleaning may turn up.

Two Candidates For Governor Meet at Ripon

Signs Point to Bitter Campaign For Nomination

Post-Crescent News Service

Ripon, Wis. — Two candidates for the Republican nomination for the governorship amiably confronted each other at a party rally during the weekend but there were signs that their fight will become a bitter one.

Jack Olson of Wisconsin Dells and Philip Kuehn of Whitefish Bay met at a dinner rally of area Republicans celebrating the birth of the Republican party in this frontier village 106 years ago. Kuehn has been billed as the principal speaker. But Olson chartered an airplane to get here from northern Wisconsin and spoke briefly. He referred to Kuehn as "my capable opponent," and Kuehn returned the compliment in his own formal remarks.

May Be Close

But there were reports that the contest between them for the Republican state convention endorsement in May will be closer than most party men have expected.

Kuehn is the favorite in most accounts, but if the delegate endorsement vote is close and favors Kuehn it is expected that Olson will challenge the result and enter the Republican primary in September as an independent Republican. Kuehn is the former GOP state chairman and is backed by many of the most prominent of the present organization leaders of the party, to Olson's resentment.

More than 100 Republicans from throughout the state turned out to commemorate the action of a small band of rebellious Whigs, free-soilers and discontented Democrats more than a century ago that led to the formation of the Republican party and the election of Abraham Lincoln to the White House half a dozen years later.

Two Found Dead in Car

Carbon Monoxide Poisoning Believed Cause of Deaths

Kiel — A man and woman were found dead in their car in the driveway of a farm about a half mile west of here about 6:50 a.m. today.

LeRoy Hughes, county coroner, said cause of death tentatively was listed as accidental carbon monoxide poisoning. He said there will be an inquiry into the deaths.

The bodies of Miss Lois Doris Dederling, 22, Kiel, and James Behnke, 22, Reedsville, were found slumped in the front seat of the car by Robert Nett. The car engine was running.

Noticed Car

Mrs. Alvin Nett, Robert's mother, said she noticed the car in the driveway about 6:10 a.m., but because the motor was running she thought nothing of it. Robert made the discovery when he found the car.

Each Wears Mark of Bond

Former Prisoners at Infamous Nazi Concentration Camp Hold Reunion

New York —On the surface, the gathering last night in a Bronx hotel looked like any other reunion — clusters of men in a smoke-clouded room shouting happy greetings, slapping one another on the back, and drinking toasts.

Inside their sleeves, each of the men wore the mark of their bond — a number tattooed in blue on the left forearm.

Nazi Camp

The numbers were burned there more than 15 years ago when the men were prisoners at Auschwitz-Buna in Poland, one of the most horrible Nazi concentration camps.

"They didn't know our names," recalled Leon Kerstein, who now owns a butcher shop in Brooklyn. "They called us by numbers." Kerstein's mother, father, six brothers and two sisters were exterminated in Nazi concentration camps.

The gathering was the first — and probably the last — reunion of the former prisoners. Some of them carried photos showing young, cadaverously thin men with shaven heads in blue and white striped uniforms. The pictures were of themselves as slave laborers in 1945.

"It's hard to recognize you," said Erik Rosen of Queens when he met Henry Bench of Patterson, N.J. "You've gotten fatter." Rosen poked Bench gently in the stomach. They both smiled.

Most of the men at the reunion were in their 30s and 40s. Many of them had entered the concentration camp as teenagers. "Those who survived had to be young," commented Ernest

Woman Tells Of Her Brush With Death

Cottage Grove, Ore. — Her eye blackened, her body bruised, her voice a whisper, Mrs. Loyal Burns, 29, from a hospital bed yesterday told of a 13-hour brush with death.

The 5-foot brunette mother of six spent 13 hours trapped in her overturned and nearly water-filled car, clinging to floor board safety belt rings to hold her head up to four inches of air space.

Her convertible hurtled from old U.S. Highway 99 Thursday night, hit a maple tree and flipped 125 feet over a bank into the icy waters of Elk creek.

Mrs. Burns said all through the night, she thought she heard cars and trucks passing on the winding road above, although the roaring water nearly drowned out the sound.

Best Reason

She said she thought of diving down to find a way out under the car, but feared she would surely drown if she did. She made an unsuccessful attempt to kick out a window.

Asked what gave her the will to cling to the rings, she replied: "I have six children. That's reason enough. And I have a husband — that's about the best reason."

She said she felt God was with her through the long, cold night.

Tight Security Screen Ready For Khrushchev

French Officials Take Elaborate Steps To Protect Premier

Paris —U.S. France is arranging an unprecedented security screen to insure that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is hit by nothing heavier than confetti during his visit starting Wednesday.

Only Yugoslav President Tito's visit two years ago prompted security measures approaching those being prepared to protect the Soviet leader.

U. S. Tour

Mindful of Khrushchev's complaints that he was kept away from the people during his U.S. tour, the French are trying to be as discreet as possible. But the curtain will be there every time Khrushchev steps out in public.

Postponement of the visit and then the shortening of the trip forced complete rearrangement of plans. Not until Saturday, four days before the scheduled arrival, did the planners get a full go-ahead.

The postponement also meant an extension of forced vacations being given some 800 political refugees, mostly from Iron Curtain countries.

These were picked up two weeks ago and sent to Corsica and other islands. French officers went through the dossiers of some 189,000 refugees to pull out these 800 for special treatment. They did the same for Tito, but the refugees sent to Corsica then were far fewer and were almost all Yugoslavs.

A group of 32 were permitted to return from Corsica yesterday because of illness or urgent family reasons.

Among the island vacationers are ministers, ambassadors and leading politicians from many East European countries. Most are Hungarians who arrived in France after the 1956 uprising.

Bolivian Government Stops Police Revolt

La Paz, Bolivia —U.S. Bolivia's capital was back to normal today and the government of President Hernan Siles Zuazo in complete control after crushing a police revolt.

Sixteen persons were killed and 108 wounded in sharp fighting Saturday between a police regiment led by Col. Hermogenes Rios Ledezma and loyal government forces. I

Police Use Machine Gun Fire On 12,000 Rioting Africans

Report 34 Dead; Violence Erupts Elsewhere as Negroes Campaign

Vereeniging, South Africa —U.S. Twelve thousand African Negroes protesting the white government's compulsory pass system besieged a police station today. Officers inside opened fire with rifles and machine guns. Eyewitnesses said the front ranks of the crowd went down like tenpins.

Unofficial reports placed the number of dead at 34. Brig. C. J. Els of the Witwatersrand police gave a figure of 30 dead and 100 wounded — and said that was a conservative estimate.

Chou Arrives April 19 For Talks With Nehru

New Delhi —U.S. Premier Chou En-lai of communist China will arrive in New Delhi April 19 for talks with Prime Minister Nehru on the border dispute between India and red China.

Nehru told the lower house of parliament Chou would remain in New Delhi until April 25.

The barrage drove back the crowd, leaving dead and wounded in the streets. Police called in armored cars and jet fighter planes to break up the demonstration.

It was part of a national campaign billed as nonviolent and aimed at abolition of the passes that all nonwhites in South Africa must carry.

Violence Erupts

But violence erupted at Sharpeville, a native quarter near Vereeniging, which is 30 miles south of Johannesburg.

Two hours after the shooting, ambulances still were running back and forth to hospitals in Vereeniging. Hospital officials refused to disclose casualty information.

About 25 police were besieged inside the police station by the Africans. When the Africans began to stone the station, the police opened fire.

The rioting was part of the start of a Negro passive resistance campaign to tie up the nation's commerce and industry.

Seek Reason For Collision

Two Crewmen Killed When Freight Rams Navy Escort

Norfolk, Va. —U.S. The navy today sought the reason for a baffling, clear - night collision in which a Swedish freighter rammed a destroyer escort and almost tore it in two.

Two reservist crewmen of the USS Darby died and another was seriously injured when the prow of the SS Soyat Atlantic knifed into the starboard side of the naval vessel Saturday at the mouth of Chesapeake bay.

The weather was clear and the captain of the Darby reportedly was on the bridge at the time of the collision.

Picketed by Protestants

Sen. Kennedy Enters Indiana Primary Race

Indianapolis —U.S. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) also believe in the Sixth amendment that there shall be no religious test for office and brushed aside a debate challenge from a picketing Protestant group.

The Kennedy party reached the Indiana statehouse this morning to enter the Indiana primary and found a group identifying themselves as Baptists. The group carried a sign which read:

"Sen. Kennedy we challenge you to a public debate." The pickets, led by Dr. Hendon M. Harris, Jr., of Bloomington, Ind., passed out leaflets listing this debate topic: "Resolved: That a Roman Catholic president cannot impartially defend the constitution and advance the welfare of the United States while remaining true to his religion."

The Massachusetts senator said he hoped his entry in the Indiana primary would influence the state's 34 delegates to stay with him after the first ballot. Indiana law binds the delegates to the primary winner for one convention ballot only. Kennedy anticipates no opposition in Indiana.

Kennedy accepted one of the leaflets with a smile but did not comment at that time. Asked about the demonstration at a news conference later, the senator said: "I think they're entitled to their view and their opinion. I believe in the U.S. constitution."

He did not amplify his answer. Harris was accompanied by several young men who identified themselves as Baptist missionaries workers.

Top Priority for Disarmament Talk

U. S. May Propose to Allies, Soviets That Weapons Plan Lead Paris Summit Discussion

Washington —(U)— The United States may propose to its allies and Russia that disarmament be given top priority in negotiations at the May 16 summit conference in Paris.

Officials considering this possibility believe the result might be to take some of the heat off the dispute with Russia over West Berlin and to concentrate attention on the one subject which offers the possibility of important agreement.

A priority for disarmament was discussed by top U. S. leaders with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer during his visit here last week.

Limited Ban

It was further pointed out by the new Soviet conditional acceptance of a U. S. proposal for a limited rather than total treaty ban on test explosions of nuclear weapons.

The Soviets made their offer Saturday. U. S. officials are skeptical about their purpose but note that they have narrowed the gap now between their own and the western position on a nuclear test treaty.

If they are acting in good faith, officials said, it might be possible to work out most of the problems involved in agreement on a treaty in time for final decisions at the summit.

May Be Maneuvering

On the other hand, if the Soviets are not acting in good faith — that is if they are simply maneuvering for immediate advantage by splitting the United States and Britain — U. S. leaders hope to find this out well in advance of the summit.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter had opportunity to discuss the situation at a White House conference today. Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy commission expects to talk with Eisenhower later on.

Before a U. S. stand can be taken, Eisenhower may have to decide among other things whether the nation's security makes it vital to resume underground testing of nuclear weapons next fall. Some atomic and military officials say such tests are needed.

Bonduel Soldier Hurt in Fight

Tokyo —(U)— A Wisconsin soldier critically wounded in a fight with knife- and sword-wielding Japanese last week was reported Sunday to be recovering.

One American soldier was killed and another wounded in the fight near Camp Zama.

The U. S. army said Pfc. Rodney L. Wussow, 21, of Bonduel, was originally placed on the critical list but was recovering.

Fred L. Lane, 20, Cincinnati, Ohio, was killed.

Defends Farm Voting Record Of Kennedy

Proxmire Raps Humphrey for Campaign Charges

By The Associated Press

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) today jumped into the Wisconsin presidential primary fight being waged by Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) with a defense of Kennedy's farm voting record.

The junior senator from Wisconsin who reiterated that he has every intention of remaining neutral in the contest for Wisconsin's delegates for the national Democratic convention, nevertheless rapped Sen. Humphrey for attacking Kennedy's farm record during the April 5 primary.

Proxmire issued a statement from his office in Washington, stating that Humphrey "performs a disservice to his party when he permits his supporters to distribute an analysis of the Kennedy farm record which gives the false impression that Sen. Kennedy is not today thoroughly and honestly committed by his acts as well as his word to work for the kind of farm program for which midwestern Democrats have been fighting."

Supports Benson

Humphrey, in a speech at La Crosse Saturday, charged that Kennedy had supported the farm policies of Republican Sec. of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. He said such support would weaken the Democratic presidential chances if Kennedy were nominated.

Proxmire said he was speaking out on the farm matter with "the greatest regret and reluctance." He added that "in my judgment, Sen. Kennedy has an excellent farm record."

Sen. Kennedy Sunday held a public hotel reception that drew an estimated crowd of 5,000 in Milwaukee. It was the largest crowd to hear Kennedy in his current campaign. The affair was booked as a coffee party by 200 volunteer women workers.

Humphrey will remain in the state until Tuesday, and his supporters have planned an ambitious 1-day campaign stunt for next Saturday.

The entire Humphrey family will participate, including the senator and his wife, their daughter and three sons and Humphrey's sister, Mrs. Frances Howard.

Author Will Not Answer Charges, Dies in Fire

Hollywood —(U)— Best-selling author Tom T. Chamales was to appear in court today to answer charges that he beat his wife.

The author Chamales of "Never So Few" and "Go Naked in the World" died in his smoke-filled apartment Sunday despite a desperate effort to find his way to safety. Firemen said he was asphyxiated while trying to escape. Smudged hand-prints on the wall showed where he had sought to feel his way to a door or window.

In his frantic fumbling he had cut his hand deeply after smashing over a mirror on a bedroom bureau.

Miss O'Connell was in a state of shock after she was told the news. She asked a friend:

"How shall I ever tell little Maria?"

Helen Maria is the couple's 18-month-old daughter.

Robert Wadsworth, 40, Breathes in the mouth of his 4-year-old son, Robert, Jr., in an attempt to resuscitate the boy after he was taken unconscious from the family swimming pool in Bel-Air, Calif., Sunday. The boy still hovered between life and death at a late hour Sunday night.

15 Killed in Rash of Small Plane Crashes

Accidents From Coast to Coast Over Weekend

By The Associated Press

Fifteen persons were killed during the weekend as private planes crashed from Maine to California.

Four persons from Allentown, Pa., died Sunday when a plane owned by a "flying club" crashed while the pilot was trying to make an emergency landing near Kingston, N.Y.

The victims were Ralph R. Peters, 63; Karl H. Schmidt, 33; Linda Schmidt, 16, and Oliver T. Rex, 37.

At Fullerton, Calif., Leon M. Boisseranc watched a light plane piloted by his son, Leon, Jr., 29, suddenly plunge into a home and explode.

The home was that of the flier's uncle, Emil Boisseranc. Emil, his wife, and three children hurried safely from the house, which was destroyed. Boisseranc, Jr., was killed.

Instrument Landing

John Oman III, 53, head of a big construction firm, crashed with an employee, Sam Lindsey, both of Nashville, Tenn., while attempting an instrument landing during a light snowstorm near Nashville. Both were killed.

At Kankakee, Ill., a single-engine plane was wrecked during a snowstorm, killing Sidney E. McGinty, 51, of Glen Ellyn, Ill.

At Fort Worth, Texas, a student pilot, Mahmoud Saud Barghouti, 26, from Jordan, was killed in a crash while trying to land at Russell field, where he was enrolled in a flying school.

A pilot who telephoned friends and said he would fly over their ranch home died Sunday with a woman companion when the plane crashed on the ranch near Fort Worth.

Killed were J. R. Fleming, 40, Duncan, Okla., and Mrs. Mina Tillery, 35, also of Duncan.

Three men on their way Saturday to Moosehead lake, Maine, for ice-fishing crashed in a private plane. Their bodies and the wreckage were found on frozen Lily bay Sunday. They were Virgil Chadbourne, 41, the pilot and his two passengers, Roy Davis, about 40, and Jake Hanson, 60, both of Greenville, Maine.

A 5-year-old boy was killed Sunday as a single-engine plane crashed in a field near Annapolis, Md. The plane apparently was trying to make an emergency landing.

State police said the youngster, Jack Julius Lists of Randallstown, near Baltimore, died of a crushed skull. Two adults with him in the plane, including the pilot, were seriously injured.

Life-Long Companion Of Helen Keller Dies

Polly Thomson, 75, Was Secretary For Blind, Deaf Writer Since 1914

Bridgeport, Conn. —(U)— Polly Thomson, 75, for many years the eyes and ears of Helen Keller, died Sunday night in Bridgeport hospital after a long illness.

Miss Thomson became secretary-companion to the blind and deaf writer in 1914. The job evolved into a lifelong friendship. She lived with Miss Keller at the latter's home in Easton, Conn.

Describing how she interpreted to Miss Keller, Miss Thomson once explained: "Miss Keller holds my right hand loosely with her right hand and I form letters with my fingers. Sometimes, of course, she reads with her fingers on my lips."

Go to Theater

They frequently attended the theater together. Miss Thomson was able to interpret at the rate of 85 words a minute, giving essentials of the dialogue and describing the stage settings and movements of the players.

Miss Thomson was the second of Miss Keller's boon companions to die. The first was her teacher, Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy, who passed away in 1936.

The three women once formed a household that functioned normally despite varied handicaps, including Mrs. Macy's failing eyesight in her later years.

Read Newspaper

Reading the morning newspaper was a 3-way proposition. Miss Thomson propped the paper in front of her at the breakfast table and read from it. Mrs. Macy listened and passed on the news to Miss Keller with her fingertips.

Today at the breakfast table Miss Keller learned of Miss Thomson's death. A member of the household said the news was withheld from Miss Keller, now 79, until this morning on the advice of her physician.

Mrs. Evelyn Davidson Seide, Miss Keller's secretary, said the news was a shock but that Miss Keller had known her ailing companion "could not get better."

"I believe she is taking it beautifully," Mrs. Seide said.

Miss Thomson entered the hospital Dec. 1.

State Car Toll Climbs to 134 Over Weekend

Milwaukee —(U)— Six victims have been added to the 1960 Wisconsin highway death toll, including five as the result of accidents during the weekend. The fatality total, now 134, is five more than on this date last year.

Earl Young, 35, of route 3, Shawano, was killed Sunday on a town road seven miles west of that city, when his car collided with a tractor that was hauling a manure spreader.

George Astin, 23, of Milton Junction died about 1:20 a.m. today when his auto left Highway 59 north of Milton Junction, soared over an embankment and crashed into a vacant cottage on the shore of Clear Lake. The cottage was demolished, and a second was damaged when the car rammed against it before stopping. Astin was alone.

Ernest Schuepbach, 24, of Madison, died Saturday in the collision of his auto and a truck on Highway 51 about eight miles south of Madison.

Victims listed earlier were: Edward Oviatt, 18, and Arnold Sundstrom, 20, both of Superior, killed when their car crashed against a standing boxcar in Superior Saturday.

Mrs. Prudie L. Prell, 53, Coon Rapids, Minn., who died as a car and trailer left a St. Croix county road Saturday.

Chiang Kai-shek Reelected President Of Nationalist China

Unopposed for Third 6-Year Term, Gets 98 Per Cent of Ballots

Taipei, Formosa —(U)— Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was reelected without opposition today to a third 6-year term as president of nationalist China.

Flags of the republic blossomed in Taipei, and firecracker barrages were set off throughout the country.

The national assembly, sitting as the nation's electoral college, gave the 73-year-old leader a rousing 1,481 votes out of 1,509 ballots cast. The remaining 28 ballots were blank — an anti-Chiang expression — and were declared invalid.

Ballot Percentage

This amounted to 98.14 per cent of the ballots, far more than Chiang received in his previous two elections. He won 88 per cent of the vote where he was first elected at Nanking in 1948 and 95 per cent in Taipei in 1954.

As an unopposed candidate, he needed only 789 votes for election. As soon as this number was reached, announcement of the reelection was broadcast over the nation's radios.

Chiang, although a member of the national assembly, was not present for the balloting.

The national assembly will meet again tomorrow to elect Vice President Chen Cheng to his second term. He also is unopposed.

The president and his running mate will be inaugurated on May 20.

The nationalist constitution prohibits a third term for the president and vice president, but in order to keep Chiang in office the prohibition was suspended until the national regime recaptures the communist-held mainland.

Chiang and Chen, 62, have much in common.

Both are strong men, unwavering in their determination to hold the offshore islands and not to talk peace with the Chinese communists.

Both are military men. Chiang wears five stars as the generalissimo, while Chen is entitled to wear four as a general first grade. But Chen has vowed that he will not don his uniform again until nationalist forces invade the mainland.

White House Conference To Discuss American Youth

Area People Invited to Attend Golden Anniversary Sessions

Every 10 years since 1909 the citizens of the United States have held a White House conference to consider what our children and youth need to prepare them, as our constitution puts it, for "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

The sixth of these decennial deliberations will take place March 27 to April 2. It has been designated as the Golden Anniversary Conference on Children and Youth.

Sessions will be built around the theme: "To promote opportunities for children and youth to realize their full potential for a creative life in freedom and dignity."

Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, has appraised the conference in these words: "It is a conference run by the people of the United States, acting through their local, state and national organizations in cooperation with the national committee in order to truly reflect the desires and aspirations of the children and youth of the country."

First in a Series

President Eisenhower asked the governors of each state and territory to appoint committees to prepare for the conference.

Invited by President

Attendance and participation in the conference is only on invitation by Eisenhower on recommendation of the committee on invitations and credentials of the president's national committee.

Eisenhower is honorary chairman of the national committee. Flemming is honorary vice chairman. Mrs. Rollin Brown, Los Angeles, is chairman; Mrs. Katherine B. Oettinger, chief of the children's bureau, is secretary, and Ephraim K. Gombberg is executive director.

Northeastern Wisconsin delegates who have received and accepted invitations from the President to represent Wisconsin at the conference in Washington include:

Alcott School Grounds Sold

Last of 1-Room Properties of Joint District

Forest Junction — Alcott school and grounds, last of the 1-room properties of Joint District No. 3 of towns Brillion and Holland since 1956, has been sold to Roy Bastian, adjacent landowner.

A transaction, pending for some time, has been completed with the recent delivery of the deed and receipt of a check for the balance due by Arthur Stanelle, district treasurer, Saturday.

Some delay had been occasioned in perfecting the title to the land, one square acre in the southeast corner of section 16 of town Brillion, which was conveyed in January, 1882, by Peter and Alexander Reuter to school district No. 6 on the condition that "the said acre of land shall be used for school purposes only."

A date stone in the 1-room brick schoolhouse, which may or may not contain historical documents placed there at the time of construction in 1906, is mentioned in the present deed, reserving the ownership of any such material to the school district, when and if the building is razed.

Chicago Police Find Stolen Car

Weyauwega — Chicago police located a car stolen from Howard Goetsch here Friday night. The car was abandoned on Highway 41 near Chicago.

A Chicago boy is being held by police there for investigation. He was arrested near the car when he attempted to hitchhike. The youth had last been seen near the car in Weyauwega about 9:45 p.m. Friday.

Defrauds Woman By Saying Her Son Is Alive

Milwaukee — Dale H. Ferguson, Kenosha, a former Milwaukee construction company president, was convicted in U.S. District court Friday of attempting to defraud a Kansas woman by telling her that her brother, killed in World War II, was still alive.

Ferguson, 38, was convicted, after a jury trial, on four counts of using the mails to defraud Mrs. Kathryn Boston of Council Grove, Kan., of $3,100 in 1957. Judge Robert E. Tehan ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

Cottage Razed By Blaze in Rat River Area

Fremont — Fire destroyed everything but the stone fireplace in the summer cottage of E. N. Schorrak, West Allis, about 8:30 a.m. Sunday some eight miles east of Fremont on the Rat river.

Schorrak was visiting his son's cottage about three miles south of Fremont when the fire was reported by Theodore Kiesow, a neighbor.

The blaze was out of control when the Fremont fire department arrived. It is believed sparks from the fire place may have started the blaze.

To Your Good Health Desensitizing Shots Help Build Defense to Allergies

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My 6-year-old son has asthma. Last summer he had a great deal of trouble breathing in July, but was very well in June and August."

"Skin tests revealed that he was allergic to dust, wool, pollen and a few foods, which we have eliminated from his diet."

"The allergy specialists prescribed weekly shots to desensitize his body to the allergens that affect him. My husband and I wonder if medicine taken by mouth would be as effective in curing asthma as the shots. It would be less bother than a weekly visit to the doctor, and easier for the boy — Mrs. E. T."

This letter has some points of interest to parents of every child with asthma. First and most important is to recognize that in the vast majority of cases the root of the trouble is allergy.

True, there can be other causes of asthma, difficult breathing and wheezing, but especially among the young, we look for allergies.

Thorough Testing
From the above letter, much condensed, I learned that the boy had a thorough examination including blood count, chest X-ray, and 200 skin tests which identified the substances and foods that bothered him.

The essential inquiry is about giving medicine by mouth rather than using shots to desensitize the child.

Medicines taken by mouth are used for asthma. They are extremely helpful at certain times, but they simply don't do the same thing that desensitizing shots do, so there's no use in trying to think of them as substitutes.

For Emergencies
Such medicines include the antihistamines, ephedrin preparations, steroid hormones, etc. Taken to suppress an attack of asthma, or hay fever, or other allergic attack, they are very useful and effective.

These, I would say, are best kept for emergencies. They are powerful medicines too, and should be handled with respect.

But while they are very effective in an attack, they are not curative. They don't do anything toward preventing future attacks.

Desensitization by injections, on the other hand, helps to build up the patient's defenses against allergy by giving very small doses of the offending substances. In a sense, this is similar to protecting yourself against sunburn by gradually acquiring a coat of tan. Not exactly, but on that order.

While this is a slow process, it brings long-term benefits, and desensitization by injection, I believe, is favored by most allergists, particularly for allergy to dust and pollen.

Air Swallowers
"Dear Dr. Molner: My roommate and I have both been complaining about bloated abdomens, and now I feel you have given the right answer. While eating my lunch, I was reading the part of your column about swallowing air, I did just that. Also I never chew my food well. I will have to frame your defenses against allergy by giving it as a reminder!—H.J."

I hope a lot of others noticed my comment on air-swallowing. This becomes such a habit that we never notice it at all, unless it is called to our attention.

The Presidential Primary

In the midst of the presidential preference primary campaign, while the voters are being bombarded by pleas from Sens. Humphrey and Kennedy, people are beginning to give some thought to the mechanics of the primary and whether it is the best possible way of electing a delegation to the national convention. If Sens. Humphrey and Kennedy were the only candidates for the Democratic nomination, or if they were certain to be the principal candidates at the national convention, there would be no better way to choose between them than is provided by the Wisconsin preferential primary.

However, it is quite certain these two gentlemen are not the only candidates who will be considered by the convention. Furthermore it is not certain they will be the principal candidates. Thus it could happen that the Wisconsin delegation will go into the convention with a portion of the Democratic delegates tied to each of these gentlemen. It could happen also, that neither Sen. Kennedy nor Sen. Humphrey will be in the running after the first vote in the convention. It also is possible that the Wisconsin delegates will not be able to free themselves from their obligation to these candidates in time to participate in any act of importance in selecting the actual candidate.

If that happens what will all the fuss about Kennedy and Humphrey amount to? Sen. Proxmire (D-Wis.) is warning Wisconsin voters that they will have to put up an all-out fight to prevent the state's 1960 presidential preference primary from being the last one. He says there is less than a 50-50 chance of the present primary law surviving the 1961 session of the Wisconsin legislature. The alternative, Sen. Proxmire says, is a return to party conventions under which "the majority of the people of our state would be cut out."

The senator may be right about the legislative threat to the present primary law, but there isn't much substance to his claim that the people would suffer a great loss by a return to the convention system. John Wyngaard in his Madison column recently pointed out that the best primary record the state of Wisconsin ever established was that of 1952 when one million odd votes were cast which scarcely represents half of the potential vote. Thus it appears that the majority of the people have been out of the presidential primary contests by their own choice in all past elections.

Sen. Kennedy has spoken out on several occasions in favor of the presidential primary as the best means of getting contact between the candidates and the people. He thinks the presidential primaries are "the best education possible for a candidate." Furthermore, he believes that states like Wisconsin and Massachusetts easily could be pushed aside by the politicians if they had no primaries. Of course, Wisconsin people know they have been pushed aside, or rather their delegates have been utterly futile, at any number of national conventions even though they were chosen by primaries. In fact the restrictions placed upon the delegates by Wisconsin primary law has contributed to the futility of the delegations. In the future it will be possible for the delegates to free themselves of obligations to the candidates by a two-thirds vote after the first convention ballot. However, if there is a divided delegation, as there promises to be, a two-thirds majority may be difficult to obtain.

Sen. Estes Kefauver who twice won the Wisconsin delegation to the Democratic convention says the best way to campaign is to get out and meet the voters at the crossroads but he has doubt as to the value of the primaries.

He thinks the state primaries are too few and that the delegates should be chosen in a national primary. We think it is a good thing that the people are giving some thought to possible changes in the methods of electing delegates to the national party conventions. It must be quite obvious that the present system is unsatisfactory. We think it would be simple enough to improve the method of electing state delegates to national conventions if the people were to give some thought to the subject.

Sen. Proxmire's fear of the convention is based upon the experience of the past when delegates to conventions were chosen at caucuses and very often the caucus as well as the party itself was manipulated by one big boss. It should be possible, though, to hold party primaries and choose delegates to conventions by popular vote. These delegates could elect other delegates to represent them at the national conventions. Furthermore the delegates there could be instructed by the state conventions as to how to conduct themselves just as the delegates now are instructed by the voters. To insist upon clinging to the present practice, which has been proved both faulty and at times futile, seems to be the stand of a hopeless person.

Education by Air

A project that has something of a science-fiction aura even in this age of space probes will start sometime next year to beam educational programs to several mid-western states.

The Midwest Airborne Television Project, sponsored by a $4½ million grant from the Ford Foundation, will send up a DC-7 airplane to 20,000 feet four or five days a week to re-broadcast programs probably originated at Purdue University on two ultra-high frequency television channels. The programs, aimed at elementary, secondary and college classrooms, will be of two kinds: material not readily available in most schools, and enrichment projects to expand ideas and concepts of courses already being used.

When the program first gets under way, Continental Classroom will be re-broadcast at the time of regular school hours. Russian will be offered and there will be two courses of the enrichment variety, a Great Issues project in the social sciences and humanities, and a combination of frontiers of science and new concepts of mathematics. Only southeast Wisconsin will receive the signals, at least in the early stages of the experiment.

It seems a little difficult to know exactly what this program can do that film strips, or kinescope material can't at present. There also is the handicap of making it necessary for schools to program around the televised show if it is to be really helpful rather than using the material to develop the courses, in individual schools, which must be planned according to local needs and local pupil abilities. One may even suspect that all the emphasis upon the wild blue yonder and the wonders of the space age have influenced the originators of the idea beyond the realities or necessities.

But it ought to be an interesting experiment and anyway, the Ford Foundation can afford it.

Soon We'll All Secede

One of the provisions of the United Nations Charter, accepted back in the idealistic glow of the last days of World War II, acknowledges respect of the right of small groups of people to determine their own destinies. After all this time a group of islanders who live somewhere off the coast of Tanganyika have used this clause. "On the stroke of midnight, Dec. 31, 1959" they seceded from Tanganyika.

Although the name of the island was not given in the announcement which came through the British administrators of Tanganyika, it is a 650 acre dot among a cluster of islands off the peninsula of M'simbati. The islanders say they wish to remain loyal British subjects of the Queen and they promise to help fishermen in distress within the three mile limit which they claim under international law. They hope the deed will be accepted in peace and they point to the unanimous declaration of secession.

Just in case the U. N. officials think this isn't setting a precedent, they should look carefully at the reasons for the move. For 42 years the islanders say they have been paying their taxes to Tanganyika faithfully and without complaint. And what have they received for their submission? Nothing. Not a road, not a port dug out, not an airfield, not a clubhouse.

It isn't taxation without representation to which they object but taxation without a pork barrel clause. Legislators around the world had better take notice.

Death of Railroad, History in Reverse

From The Chilton Times-Journal

So the daily Chippewas sound their mournful air horns across Calumet county no more. They blew for their own funerals and, eager for the grave, gave up the ghost on Feb. 1 and 2, four days early.

It is history in reverse — or history come full circle. In a sense, we are back where we were 100 years ago when there was no railroad at all in Calumet county, only the North Western struggling to lay its track up the far shore of Lake Winnebago to Appleton, and the mighty Sheboygan and Mississippi railroad, hustling this spring a century ago to push its iron out of Plymouth and over to "Glen Beulah."

Once more, as they were a century ago, the daytime mails are being carried not by rail but by stagecoach. Today's stages run on rubber over hard roads and are called trucks, but they are still stagecoaches, vehicles that run by stages from town to town. The evening mails still go out by rail, on No. 9 and No. 10, our last remaining trains, but otherwise we are back where we were a hundred years ago.

Is this progress or isn't it? No matter how one explains it, the loss of railroad trains is a mark of business failure. The railroad has failed to keep up, failed to compete, failed to sell itself or its service. The railroad built this region, as railroads built the nation, and its arrival produced cheers and civic celebrations.

Now, its pioneering spirit withered away, it can only retreat, and the death of two trains causes no stir at all and barely any mention. The railroad notified newspapers by telegram that it was giving up the Chippewas. Curiously, and perhaps significantly, it uses telegrams to herald a failure but never to proudly announce a success.

Writer Says South Preparing for Negro Exodus and Warns North

Editor, Post-Crescent:

You will render a great service to your readers if you will publish these facts. The north is finding great sport in criticizing and ridiculing the south, and the northern politicians are having a field day in fighting for civil rights. These politicians can well afford a field day as they are receiving large campaign contributions and also Negro votes by supporting the "humanitarian cause," and no constituent objects. The organizations which are giving financial support to these representatives happen to be the same organizations which are financing, directing, and giving leadership to the racial strife in the south.

Now, the pertinent question is: "How will the trouble in Montgomery affect you?" For 150 years the south has had a heavy concentration of Negroes, and throughout the years a plan has slowly evolved for coping with the social and economic problems arising from this situation. It was found that the lesser the contact between the races the lesser the opportunity for friction. Where there was no social contact there was no friction. The southern economy was also geared to use the limited abilities of the Negro.

As the founder of Tuskegee college for Negroes, Booker T. Washington, so aptly stated: "In all things social the races must be as separate as the fingers on your hand, but in matters of business the two can work together as the right hand works with the left." This plan produced order where there had been chaos. This grew into what we in Alabama call the "established order." When this established order is strictly adhered to, there is a place in our community for the Negro and there is a place for him in our economy. If this order is destroyed, he will be a man without a country — until he moves north.

We in the south are preparing for the mass exodus which these politicians seem determined to precipitate. We are fast mechanizing our farms, converting row crop land to grassland, installing pipeline milkers and bulk feeders in our dairies, converting from sack to bulk in our mills, installing automatic machinery in our factories, etc. We are preparing to do without the Negro.

Now, the question is, "are you prepared to receive him in large numbers?" He will contribute little in taxes, but will place many children in your schools. You will need to build large areas of low cost housing, and greatly increase your welfare funds. Your police force must be greatly expanded to cope with the exceptionally high incident of crime among Negroes.

Give this matter serious thought, because the problem we now face will soon be yours. However, we will not let our politicians exploit your troubles for their selfish personal gain.

This is the unanimous thought of our community and vast majority of Alabama.

'He Catches a Pass and Slides Into Second Base'

Looking Backward

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of March 24, 1860.

Our readers will doubtless recollect the correspondence between Adj. Gen. Swain and Capt. Barry of the Union Guards wherein Capt. Barry refused to give "aid and comfort" to the State authorities in carrying out their treasonable designs against the Government of the United States.

The correspondence, we are credibly informed, originated among the governor's tools, for the sole purpose of having some little excuse to decapitate a political opponent and to disband his company, which is composed of some 60 Irish Democrats, all loyal adopted citizens.

Capt. Barry is of Irish extraction, a relative of "old Jack Barry," now first Commodore of our U. S. Navy. He is the treasurer of Milwaukee County, one of the city's most respected citizens, who has received a regular military education at West Point, and is as well versed in military discipline as any man in the State.

His company is also composed of some of Milwaukee's best citizens who are unwilling to commit treason against the country, even at the risk of bringing down the vengeance of a Know Nothing Executive, who would much rather see them imitating old John Brown in pulling hemp than in disobeying the commands of His Royal Highness.

Doerfer's Attitude Puzzles Madison

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The Wisconsin statehouse has contemplated the fall from place and power in Washington of Wisconsin-reared and Wisconsin-trained John C. Doerfer, to borrow the old phrase, more in sorrow than in anger.

Wyngaard

There was relatively little surprise when Doerfer quit his powerful office as chairman of the Federal Communications commission. Those who knew the man in the Wisconsin state government generally expected such a response when he was spotlighted unfavorably in the nation's press for the second time for what most persons would regard as improper associations on the part of a key officer of a regulatory commission, in this instance with a television corporation head.

Whatever Doerfer's critics have said about him and may say about him, they never said he was equivocal or indecisive.

ries or read tomorrow's paper for the fate of their heroes.

"The teams are in their dressing rooms now and as soon as they return on their bus the game will get under way."

Although "Hollerin'" Harry is a fictional character, his radio audience is receiving an accurate account of the festivities as they will not doubt occur when the Appleton Terrers entertain opponents on an inadequate playing field beginning next year.

What prompted this decision? That question can be simply answered. Appleton High School has been playing on the Lawrence college turf and after repeated scheduling conflicts, the board of education thought it would be easier to move. Certainly those reasons are justifiable but the move was not.

Why doesn't the city of Appleton, represented by our fine city fathers, consider constructing an athletic field? A rapidly growing city of 50,000 without an athletic field to "home" its high school team — a great reflection of our interest in progress, isn't it?

It's a Matter Of Semantics

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The answers to my letter on the subject of the Catholic candidate have been interesting and thought-provoking.

Mr. Denigan and I have both used the word "authoritarian," but have attributed different meanings to the word. He says, "The nature of all forms of government is authoritarian." Webster defines "authoritarian" as "advocating the principle of obedience to authority as opposed to individual liberty." It was in that sense that I used the word.

Local Democrat
Appleton

PUZZLE

Doerfer served several successful years as chairman of the most important regulatory agency of the Wisconsin state government, the public service commission, which probably qualified him for the regulatory post considerably better than the background and experience of most nominees to federal government control departments.

It was here that Doerfer learned how to live in a glass house. He earned the respect of the state civil service staff and of the antagonists in dozens of major regulatory cases that came before him and his colleagues for adjudication. Here he was watched by a suspicious political party, eager for ammunition against state Republican administrations, and passed his tests successfully.

It is because of his Madison record and reputation that there is a great speculation about what happened to John Doerfer when he got to Washington.

There is something akin to astonishment that, after being on the congressional committee griddle two years ago for what was called careless association with the regulated industries, he should invite denunciation and veritable destruction in the political sense by repeating the incident this year.

Old friends in Madison can only conclude that there is something different about Washington climate that modifies a man's tastes, adjusts his habits, and eliminates his caution.

Commissioner Doerfer exclaimed, during his brief and futile self-defense, that he regarded it as his duty to maintain a close liaison with the industries he regulated in order to keep informed on technical developments and regulatory policy problems.

HOW IT GOES

That might be fairly plausible in Washington, but Doerfer didn't learn it in his Wisconsin apprenticeship. A Wisconsin public service commissioner who uttered any such explanation would be scoffed out of town.

When the Washington mighty fall, they fall painfully, almost cruelly.

There is an element of tragedy in the departure from the public service, under such circumstances, of a man who worked diligently and fruitfully for many years and whose public service record is a long and honorable one.

It probably is a price that must be paid, however, for public confidence in the integrity of governmental administration in an era when government is the most important force in the life of the average man in America.

The necessity is not only to avoid evil — but the appearance thereof.

Mr. Doerfer, regretfully, somehow forgot the adage of the historian of the ancients, that Caesar's wife must be above suspicion.

members of many other professions with comparative ease. It is unable to get the number of medically trained men it needs, and especially in psychiatry.

Medical practitioners prefer private practice, for its professional satisfactions, or for its economic remuneration. Believing that the latter is a big factor, the state is planning again to raise the civil service pay scales for doctors, which already are higher than those for any other classification in the civil service.

Wage Range
The beginning doctor in the civil service today will earn around $10,000. He can progress to a maximum of about $18,500. The proposal is for a range between $12,000 and $25,000, with the latter limited to heads of treatment institutions and senior psychiatrists. The new scale would be so arranged to give automatic returns for seniority and types of services performed.

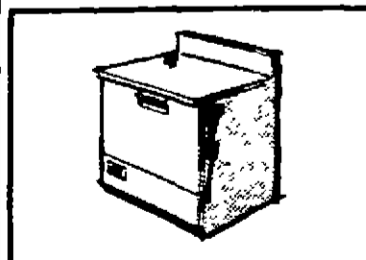

The plan is being eagerly backed by the heads of two agencies which hire most of the doctors in the state service, Wilbur Schmidt of the state department of public welfare and Dr. Carl N. Neupert of the state department of health.

Both have complained of staff vacancies for years. Schmidt recently told the state board of operations that he has been unable to keep on the job more than 45 per cent of the doctors budgeted for his several hospitals and colonies.

Charlie's Tour Companions Can Profit by His Experiences Abroad

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

EUROPEAN POTPOURRI—Some of the members of the tour headed for Europe under the sponsorship of this newspaper will be mightily surprised to find that many people in Europe live under surprisingly primitive conditions. In thousands of communities "central heating" is a far-off dream, and families spend their evenings sitting around the fire-side.

One day while I was chatting with a lady in a little village in France, I was asked to describe how American homes are heated. I explained several of the methods and drew sketches so that she would more readily understand. Among the types I tried to explain was the hot water radiator. I drew a sketch of a radiator and explained that the heat came from this metal thing.

"Ah," said the lady, "and then this is what the American families sit around in the evening when they talk?"

During the war years Europe suffered much more intensely than we Americans. I remember talking to a boy of 12 who had never seen a banana. I also remember seeing in the window of a London store a bunch of grapes—a real rarity in those days. The price was one pound for a pound of the grapes. A pound then was worth a trifle more than $4.

I remember being offended in a British church when one of the hymns contained a line which no American could accept, and I declined to sing it. The phrase read: "The rich man in his castle; the poor man at the gate—God made them high and lowly, and ordered their estate." I did not believe God did any such thing!

I had been asked to speak to the children of a graded school in a little town in England named Overton upon the Dee, and subsequently I became friends (and still am) with the schoolmaster and his family. Several times we took long walks and I was quite surprised to see that when he met some of the children in his school, each of them doffed his hat and bowed deeply to the schoolmaster. Great respect was demanded of the pupils, and it was obtained, too.

On one of our walks I stopped to chat with a little boy. I patted his head and joshed with him a little while. The schoolmaster had walked on ahead of me and then stopped, waiting, as though he would have no part of this conversation. Then, for a time, he walked with me but kept his silence. At length he told me that I had done a wrong thing—that no Englishman would ever accost a child he did not know and make overtures of friendship. He was very offended with my behavior which was, I think, perfectly normal "American."

One day I invited one of his small daughters to the nearby American army camp to have an American Sunday dinner with the troops. On the menu, among other things, was canned corn. Most rural area Eng-

And those of us who have some French can get by in almost any metropolitan community in any city because French is a delightful language and is probably the second language of Europe.

Some of our American words of jest must never, never be spoken in polite English society because several of them have an obscene meaning in that country.

Although the English expression, "bloody" (which is perhaps the most frequently used word of the lower classes) does not seem to be so very wrong to us, it simply is not used in the presence of ladies.

When in England I was curious about the evil connotation of the word. I asked many informed people about it; I wondered why it was such a bad thing to say. But, strangely, nobody could tell me why. They did tell me though, that it must never, never be used. It is considered to be such a bad word that when George Bernard Shaw employed it in one of his plays it became a national scandal.

One day in a London library I researched the word and I found it to be the telescoped remains of an ancient Catholic curse, "By Our Lady!"

Also, not polite nor ever used except by very common, very vulgar people (frequently the Cockney) is the expression "Coo lumme," a phrase whose meaning has been forgotten, but which is a contraction of an exclamation, "God love me!" "Cor," also forgotten, means "God," too.

Depending upon where we go and the people we meet in England, we'll find some strange terms and speech in the mother tongue. In one whole shire (county), everybody calls everyone else "love" though it is pronounced "luv."

I do not remember where it was I heard the following phrases, but it may have been Devonshire. I heard someone say to an elderly lady these "English" words: "E const see as guds cust. Need glas, doesn't E?" It translates to "You can't see as good as you could. You need glasses, don't you?"

Another time I heard a girl being asked to dance and her reply was something like this: "Orry, I can't once wi e, Ah got once wi e o'er ere. E brot I." It meant: "Sorry, I can't dance with you. I have to dance with he, over there. He brot I."

The two travel bureaus which will be looking after us (one in Appleton; one in Green Bay) have estimated that perhaps 60 per cent of the folks who take the tour to Europe will remain there to do some scouting and moving about on their own after the tour is finished. The return trip tickets are good for a year.

Downtown Mutation of Original Form

Research Man Tells Background of City Center Formation

Sheboygan — A community downtown area is a mutation of its original form, planners and engineers were told during a panel discussion of community centers Saturday.

"Downtown is thought of too much as a shoppers' function," R. L. Nelson, president of Real Estate Research, said at the Association of Wisconsin Planners conference.

Downtown historically arose as a meeting place, he said. It was started to provide office spaces for governmental functions; offices for administration and finance, the trading and distribution of goods, and to provide culture and amusement, Nelson said.

Obscured Function

"Retailers have obscured the basic function of downtown," he declared.

Downtown is becoming a series of high-grade specialty shops, he warned. Department stores and other large scale merchandising units are moving away.

"Today it is important to get housing downtown for city workers to serve its immediate population and those who come from away, he said.

Necessary Steps

Robert Ducharme, of the research section of the Milwaukee land commission, listed things necessary to activate an improved downtown area.

"The stakes are high," he said. "It requires political astuteness to get community action and a good planning agency."

The phases of a downtown development program must include study of uses of existing city conditions, analysis of sales, parking and an evaluation of downtown as a location for offices and stores, he said.

Consider Land

Planning should consider land uses, off street parking, improving traffic circulation and vehicular and pedestrian movement, he added.

Robert Irwin, president of Redevelopment Services corporation, Milwaukee, listed the steps necessary to redevelop a community center.

Get the owner of the merchant's property into the planning, he said. Use a downtown

Green Bay Man Invites Planners To April 9 Program

Sheboygan — "A downtown area must have culture and government in its midst to be a core area of a city," state planners and engineers were told here Saturday by George Burridge, manager of Nau's department store, Green Bay.

Burridge invited the planners to attend the unveiling of the Greater Green Bay area plan on April 19. He spoke in a panel discussion on revitalizing the downtown area during the Association of Wisconsin Planners state meeting.

Burridge disagreed with another panel speaker who said the downtown area had to be a specialized area.

"We are weak in our conception of a downtown area if we do not think of an assortment of commerce to get interest in the plan and help it move. When selling the plan move gradually, he said.

ment and at least two large department stores. These stores provide shoppers with a variety of goods at different prices and of different quality," he said.

Burridge traced four steps he felt are necessary in planning a good downtown area. They are:

Sell Owners

Sell owners of property on the idea of building a better downtown by a self-assessment program. Some 80 per cent of Green Bay property owners helped pay to start and improve downtown, he added.

Downtown can't be sold as a core area idea. There must be said.

concern for outlying areas, Burridge said.

There is no use having a plan and model unless there are people dedicated to a long period of backing the project, he explained.

Fourth Step

The fourth step is to start revitalizing the downtown before the community center begins degenerating.

A good downtown section is important, but the traffic flow of a community also is very important, he said.

"You must create a desire and joy for persons coming into the community. When you have this, then you can concentrate on the core area," he said.

Speaker Traces Plan of Community for Future

Says Planning No Mystery When Explained To Legislative Bodies and Commissions

BY ROY F. VALITCHKA II
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Sheboygan—A community's decision to plan for the future and how the community implemented the plan were traced by Jerry C. Mudie, zoning engineer of the Detroit Edison company, at the third annual conference of the Association of Wisconsin Planners Saturday.

There are thousands of citizens serving as members of local legislative bodies, Mudie said. These people are not trained. They are serving because of community interest and a desire to help a community grow, he added.

Planning, when explained to them, is nothing mysterious. Planning for desirable growth of a community is natural, he explained.

Intelligent Foresight

"We should point out that community planning is essentially nothing more than the application of intelligent foresight to today's problems and tomorrow's growth potential in order to obtain the best possible community for daily living enjoyment."

"Planning offers a way to do these things at a price generally agreeable to the community," he said.

Mudie explained planning in a suburb of Detroit. When the planner was hired he emphasized that the community belonged to the people, and that he was not in any way to influence them in regard to the type of community the people wanted, Mudie went on.

Committee Formed

"As a trained technician the planner would see to it that the comprehensive plan and tools would be appropriate for shaping the kind of community desired by the people," Mudie said.

After the planning work is in progress, Mudie suggested formation of a community planning and effectuation committee.

This committee should be composed of members of the council or township board, planning commission, board of appeals and municipal officials, he said.

"Initially the committee would meet and a symposium be held to acquaint all members on the functions, duties and responsibilities of the various municipal bodies, commissions, boards and officials with the local planning program and what is required to effectuate the program."

Provides Teamwork

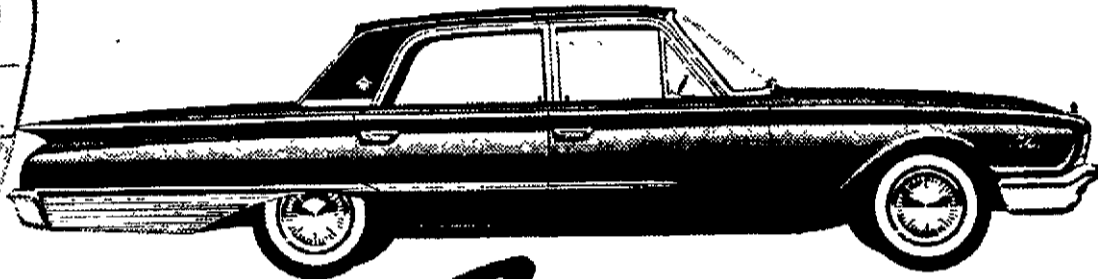

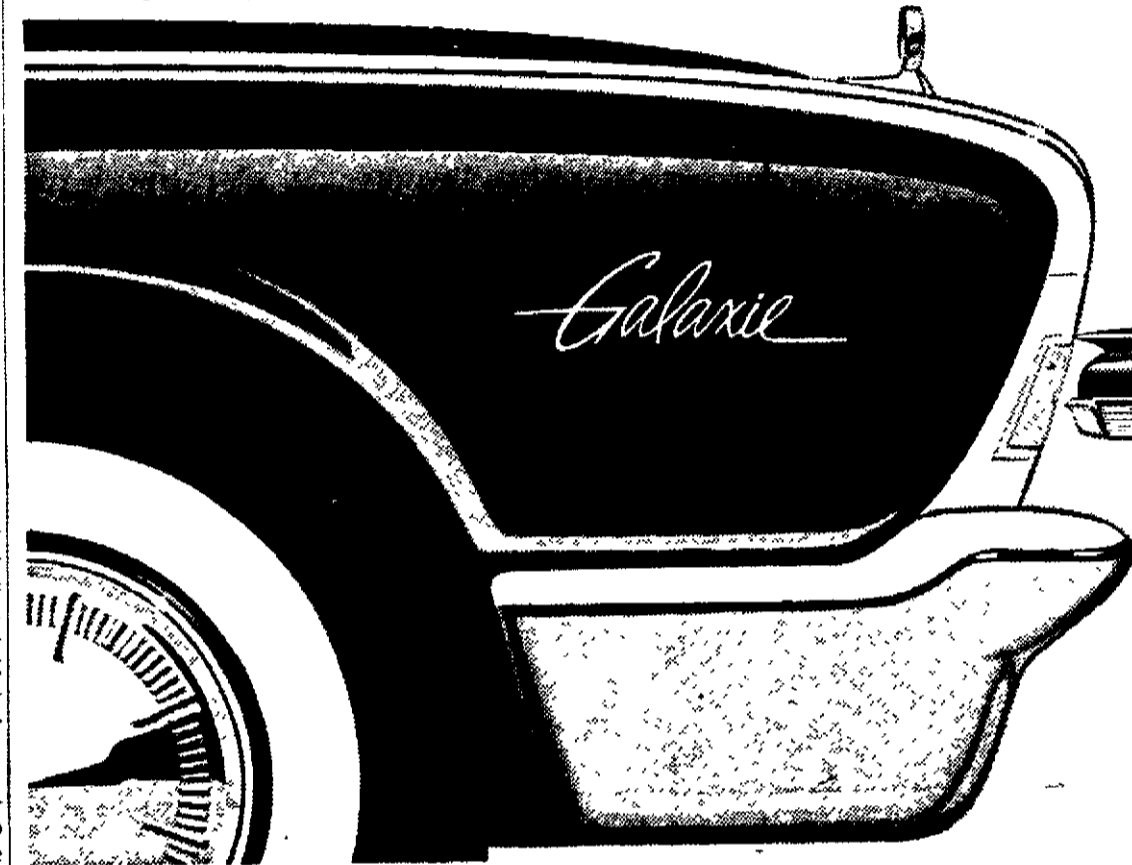

The committee could provide liaison and teamwork to make planning successful, he said. It could serve as a watch dog to make sure agencies charged with specific responsibilities for executing the planning program aren't just floating about freely and interfering with each other's functions, he added.

"Such a committee only will be worthwhile if it is backed 100 per cent by the legislative body. It will succeed if it has the wholehearted support and leadership of the duly-elected representatives of the people."

without their passes and dared police to arrest them.

Drastic measures were taken in Vereeniging after tear gas failed to break up the crowd, enraged by the killing of one African leader and the wounding of at least four others. The mob had tossed stones and injured several policemen.

Cry 'Afrika'

Then thousands of men and women, shouting the nationalist cry "Afrika," besieged Sharpeville police station. Sharpeville is a native location where thousands of black Africans live.

Jet aircraft screamed down in an attempt to frighten away the Africans. At Bophelong, which lies nearby, police made baton charges and used tear gas against the demonstrators.

Police described the situation as tense and sent armored cars to patrol African townships.

Congress President Robert

Mangaliso Sobukwe had called its comic opera aspects. So ed on all Africans to leave their compulsory passes at office at the police station home, invite arrest and thus clog courts and jails and stop business. The idea is to prove that local business and industry cannot operate without low-cost African labor.

Bob Sobukwe himself was ignored by authorities when he marched into Orlando township police station outside Johannesburg with 30 supporters. The incident had

Arrest Third Man In Chicago Slayings

Chicago—A—The third man wanted for the slaying of two postal investigators surrendered to post office authorities last night because "things were getting too hot."

Postal Inspector R. J. Dunne said Allen Golsen, 32, came to his office and identified himself as the third member of the gang which killed the inspectors last Monday night after they were arrested for mail theft.

Police last Friday night arrested William Perkins, 36, and his half brother, George Wilson, 37, in connection with the slayings.

detection methods in the underground environment.

The partial ban was first proposed by President Eisenhower on Feb. 11. Western sources said that if the Russians actually favor safety provisions acceptable to the U.S. and British governments, the 17-month-old nuclear test ban conference may be on the threshold of achieving a treaty.

After introducing the Soviet proposal, Russian Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the western delegates that his government would allow some on-site inspections to guard against the small underground explosions.

Underground Blasts

The Russians said their plan also included acceptance of a western proposal for joint east-west scientific studies of ways to detect the small underground blasts, which the west says give seismic readings that cannot be distinguished from those given by the numerous small earthquakes the earth experiences constantly.

Tsarapkin's move shifted the whole emphasis of the conference back to an old and difficult problem—the fixing of quotas for the number of veto-free, on-site inspections the three powers would allow on their territories.

first call on Cuban government officials.

Only a few hours before the ambassador's plane landed, Cuba's economic czar, extreme leftist Ernesto (Che) Guevara, told a radio audience that the nation faces "economic war" with the United States. Guevara hailed the trade agreement Fidel Castro signed recently with Russia as the best trade pact Cuba has ever made. Guevara insisted it had "no political implications."

Guevara asserted that American dollars are not really important to Cuba. He said their only value is for purchases abroad and Cuba can do that with sugar. Cuba's trade pact with Russia calls for Soviet purchase of five million tons of sugar in the next five years. One fifth of it, or about $75 million worth, will be paid in cash, the rest in goods.

Another blast charging the United States with economic aggression came after Bon-sal's arrival from President Osvaldo Dorticos.

The Cuban people will die "in revolutionary trenches" rather than submit through hunger to U. S. economic aggression, the president told a crowd of 17,000 at a rally to raise funds for arms and planes.

The crowd of 17,000 chipped

No Major Damage as 'Quake Rocks Japan

Tokyo—A—An earthquake centered in the Pacific ocean rocked northern Japan today and sent a small tidal wave into several coastal cities, but no major damage was reported.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Fill a gas tank...drop by drop?

That's how accurately fuel will be measured for the Mobilgas Economy Run (Starting April 2nd)

Think we're exaggerating? Not a bit! Nothing is overlooked to make the Mobilgas Economy Run the most accurate guide to the miles per gallon built into today's new cars. Fifty makes and models of new U. S. cars are entered. Cars just like yours—all under the rigid rules and scrutiny of the United States Auto Club. When it comes to filling gas tanks, every automobile is leveled on a special device and filled with Mobil, the New Car Gasoline. The last ounce or two is actually put in drop by drop.

And when it's all over—2,000 miles later—the Mobilgas Economy Run will provide you with the most authentic yardstick of the gas-mileage potential of today's new cars. You'll have an accurate maximum gas-mileage mark to shoot at with your own car... when you use Mobil, the New Car Gasoline. Sanctioned and certified by the U.S. Auto Club, the results of the Mobilgas Economy Run will, once again, prove the outstanding economy of a truly outstanding gasoline—Mobil, the New Car Gasoline.

Sporting Events, Aids
In Fund Campaigns

Kaukauna — Members of the Kaukauna Athletic club membership committee voted to step up its campaign throughout the city despite a report by Emmett Kavanaugh, chairman, the renewal cards and new memberships were coming in rapidly.

Through membership of boys in the armed forces or away at school, Kavanaugh reported members in nine foreign countries and in practically all of the 50 states. Cards this year will permit members to see the first two Klubber baseball games without charge.

Money raised also helps support the basketball team which plays benefit games for organizations in the city. The hospital auxiliary awning fund and high school foreign exchange student fund was aided in this manner during the winter. The club sponsors an annual softball tournament which attracts some of the strongest teams in this section of the state.

Hair Styles for Spring Program For Lady Elks

Kaukauna — Mrs. Clarence Mier and Mrs. Betsy Sellie, representatives of the Green Bay Accredited School of Beauty Culture, will give demonstration of the new spring hair styles at a meeting of the Lady Elks at 8 p. m. Wednesday at the Elk clubrooms. The two will also give tips on use of make-up to accent hair styles. Members will be permitted to bring guests. Mrs. Robert Wolf is social chairman and will be assisted by Mrs. Frances Cooney, Mrs. Joseph Mazanetz, Sr., Mrs. Marcus Nigl, Mrs. Carl Runte and Mrs. Gordon Welch.

Kaukauna — The Knights of Columbus Bowling league finished competition at the Bowling bar with Leo Spindler taking top honors with a 232 singleton and a 584 series.

Other honor counts included a 555 by Walter Rutten, Jr., and a 563 by Bill Mitchler.

Lorraine Farrell pounded a 201 single and a 552 trio to pace the Thursday Women's loop at the Bowling bar. Shirley Hurst hit 195, 528 for the other honor count.

Foreign Student to Address Rotarians

Kaukauna — Miss Sue Cotterill, foreign exchange student attending Appleton High school, will be speaker for the Rotary club luncheon at noon Wednesday at the Elk clubrooms.

Miss Cotterill of New Zealand will show slides of her country. She will be introduced by James Bamberg, program chairman.

Kiwanis to Learn Of Red Cross Work

Little Chute — William Seele, Outagamie county chairman of the Red Cross, will be speaker for a meeting of the Kiwanis at 6 to 8 p. m. at McCabe's restaurant.

Selle will show movies on Red Cross projects. George Vanderloop is program chairman.

Darboy Kegling Loop Winds Up in Deadlock

Darboy—Les Dietzen slammed a 558 trio to lead action in the Darboy Kegling league at the Bowling bar.

Van Thiel's and Wet Your Whistle finished with 23-13 marks to tie for second half honors. The two will meet March 25 in a roll off match to determine the champions.

Registration Set At Speel School

Kimberly — Students planning to enroll as first graders at the Speel school, Town of Buchanan, for the 1960-61 term, will be registered March 30 at the school, according to Richard DeBruin, school board clerk.

A New $82,000 Service building, top picture, recently completed by the Wisconsin Michigan Power company will house the company's electric operating division and duplicating department. The combination map room and radio station, bottom, is the nerve center of the company's dispatching system.

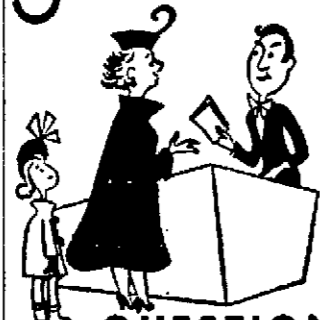

New Building Completed By Utility

The Wisconsin Michigan Power company has completed a new $82,000 service building addition at its general headquarters on S. Oneida street. The 2-story building will house the company's electric operating division on the first floor and duplicating department on the second floor.

The electric operating division is responsible for construction, operation and maintenance of the company's transmission and distribution lines and substations. The division's line dispatching office is a combination map room and communications nerve center. All of the power company's mobile equipment is connected to the center by radio. Trouble arising anywhere in the system is pinpointed on large wall maps and equipment in that area is dispatched by radio to the scene of the trouble. The utility operates five radio stations in this manner.

The duplicating department processes forms, blueprints, maps and other printed materials used in internal communications.

Social Security

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. My son died recently leaving a widow and two small children who are now getting monthly social security payments. A neighbor told me that I might be able to get parents' benefits, but I thought that benefits could not be paid to a parent if a worker left a widow or child.

A. You may qualify for social security parents' benefits if you were dependent on your son for at least one-half your support at the time of his death. Because of a 1958 change in the law, it will make no difference that he was survived by a widow and children.

Q. What do I need to do to prove that I was supported by my son or daughter at the time of his or her death?

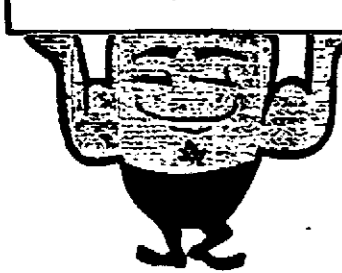

A. The dependent parent must file a certificate of support within two years following the death of the worker. This certificate should be filed within the 2-year period even though the dependent parent may not have attained retirement age.

Q. My son died in 1954 and I was entirely dependent on him at the time of his death. I did not file a certificate of support within the 2-year period because he was survived by a widow and children and it did not seem then that I could ever. Am I now barred from social security payments?

A. No. The 1958 amendments provided for an extension of time in which a certificate of support must be filed. This extension gives parents who were previously barred from entitlement because of the survival of a spouse or child until Aug. 28, 1960, to present proof of support.

The social security administration office is in the courthouse annex, 401 S. Kim street, Appleton.

Nixon No Longer Needs Eisenhower

President's Support Declaration Came Too Late, White Observes

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington—There was a time when Vice President Nixon desperately needed the all-out backing of President Eisenhower. But that time has long since gone.

And now that he does not really need a full Eisenhower endorsement he has it.

story of Eisenhower's belated declaration of unqualified support for the vice president for the 1960 GOP presidential nomination.

Nixon Walked Alone
To have had such support only three months ago—before Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York bowed out as a presidential challenger to him—would have been a great boon to Nixon. To have had it even before would have been an even greater help.

For Nixon was then walking alone in the Eisenhower wing of the GOP, shunned by most "Eisenhower Republicans." He was left to row his own boat—upstream all the way.

He is not the first man to have worked his own passage only to receive at length the very assistance which once would have meant so much but which comes too late.

Nixon long ago privately decided he would be content if the White House simply stayed neutral at the Republican national convention. He figured neutrality was all he needed while he was still being opposed by Rockefeller for the nomination. He is bound to figure now that he now does not really require anything at all from the Eisenhower administration.

Doesn't Care For Tie
This is why he coolly offered no thanks when Eisenhower announced he would be a Nixon man all the way. (It is also possible that Nixon had a secondary motive in saying that he always refused to comment "on statements by the president, even when they involve me." This tone was very similar to Eisenhower's own tone on past occasions in refusing comment when Nixon was in trouble. The president would say he did not wish to comment on the statements of other people.)

There is another reason stronger within the Republican party organization, glee. The effect of the president's statement (and perhaps its intention) was to tie Nixon ever closer to the outgoing administration. The vice president does not care to be tied quite so closely.

He cannot, for example, stand 100 per cent with an Eisenhower farm program against which many farm-belt Republicans are crying.

"No, no!" He does not propose to be bound in advance to every possible evolution in an Eisenhower policy of negotiation with the Russians which might go farther in accommodation than Nixon himself would go.

Nixon Strong in GOP
It is not Nixon who at this point owes Eisenhower a debt. The vice president today is incomparably the stronger within the Republican party organization, though not in the country. The vice president for seven years has done the slogging, front-line fighting for the GOP which the president has so consistently avoided.

The Eisenhower-Nixon relationship has been oddly mixed from the start. On the president's side, it has been alternately cordial and chilly. On Nixon's side, it has been simply correct. He has been faithful to his chief. But there is no deep warmth between these two. There never has been since the 1952 campaign when Nixon got into difficulty over political contributions. He got no sympathy from Eisenhower until in his celebrated broadcast with his dog Checkers he swept the country by emotional storm.

He won the nation's forgiveness—and, only then, Eisenhower's.

Zoning Misuse May Bring About Revolt by Public

No Recognition of It as Part of Whole, Speaker Says

BY ROY F. VALITCHKA II
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Sheboygan — The possibility of public revolt against zoning because of its misuse was explained in one of a series of panel discussions at the third annual Association of Wisconsin Planners meeting here Saturday.

"Ninety-nine out of 100 zoning laws tell nothing of interest to planning," Richard Babcock, Chicago attorney, said.

"There are no principals set. There is no recognition of zoning as part of a whole. Significant questions are not asked," he added.

"Courts have failed to ask why we are doing what we are doing in zoning," he went on. "Courts are beginning to complain zoning has no plan," he added.

An unhappy circumstance is the special use permit, Babcock said. This allows governing bodies to make zoning decisions without seeking prior information from planners. It allows zoning changes upon application by industry or other parties who desire to locate in certain areas, he added.

It is high time law, planning and municipal agencies give more attention to what is going on in zoning, William L. Nelson, Milwaukee planner said.

"We need greater recognition from law, judicial branch-of setting up mechanics of map change and to plan and zone in regional terms, not for individual purposes.

"Zoning ordinances are specialized tools. Planners should cherish the tool by keeping its use simple and within bounds. Zoning is no better than its enforcement," he said.

It will be warmer tonight from the lower and central Mississippi valley westward to the northern and central Rockies. Atlantic coast states, except Florida, will have cold weather. Snow flurries are expected in the lower lakes region and the central plains while scattered snow is forecast from the upper Mississippi valley westward to the northern Rockies.

Two Fined for Tippy Driving

Both Involved In Accidents On Saturday

Two men pleaded guilty to drunken driving charges after being involved in accidents. Both will lose their drivers' licenses for a year.

Arrested were Harvey Daebler, 24, of 80 Hughes street, Clintonville, and Claude M. Stark, 61, of 622 Isabella street, Neenah.

Daebler was fined $100 by Justice Harold Hedtke at Clintonville. He was arrested at 2 p.m. Saturday after his car collided with a car driven by Miss Theresa Jartz. Daebler's car skidded 65 feet after the mishap.

He tested .18 on the drunkometer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Stark was fined $125 on the drunken driving charge and $20 for leaving the scene of an accident by Menasha Police Justice Arthur J. Ales this morning.

Stark's car struck a Milwaukee Road switch engine at the Racine street crossing north of Third street at 9:10 p.m. Saturday. He was arrested at his home by Neenah police.

Fined $15 for Being Drunk, Disorderly

Neenah — Abraham Skenandore, 22, whose address was listed on the police arrest slip as 825 1/2 Sixth street, Menasha, pleaded guilty of being drunk and disorderly and was fined $15 and costs by Police Justice E. P. Arpin Saturday. He was arrested at 9:30 p.m. Friday.

The Princess phone

IT'S LITTLE, IT'S LOVELY, IT LIGHTS!

Here's a new extension phone that's dramatically different in size and styling from any you've ever seen before.

It's small—to take up less room on table or desk—lets you have an extension where space is limited.

It's modern—for the modern taste that asks for beauty with simplicity. Its low, lovely lines will grace any setting in your home.

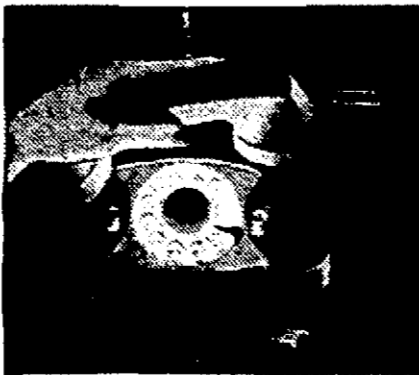

The dial lights up. It glows in the dark so you can find it quickly and, when you lift the receiver, lights up brightly to make dialing easy.

You can choose from five popular colors—white, beige, pink, blue and turquoise. To enjoy the modern convenience of the Princess phone, just call your local telephone business office. Or ask a telephone installer.

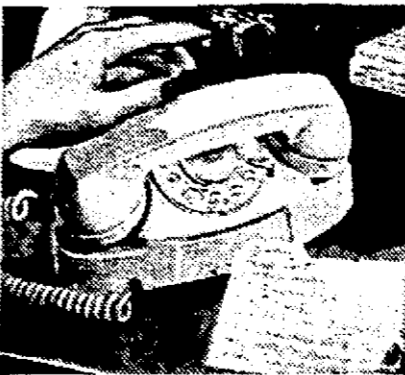

WISCONSIN TELEPHONE COMPANY

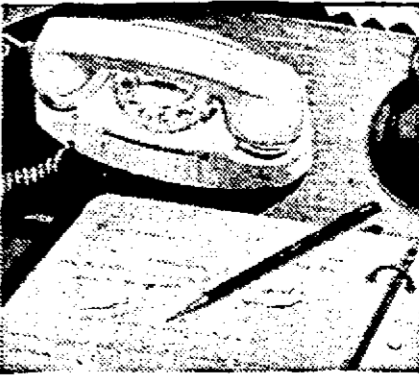

The Princess phone goes beautifully as an extension...

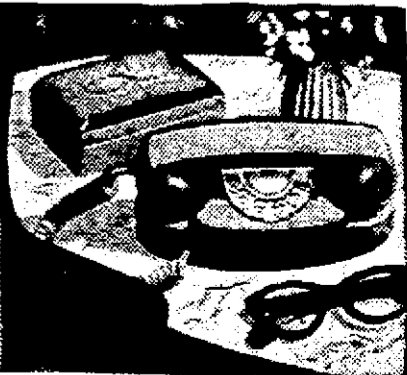

...In the bedroom where the light-up dial is handy...

...In your kitchen to help you run your home...

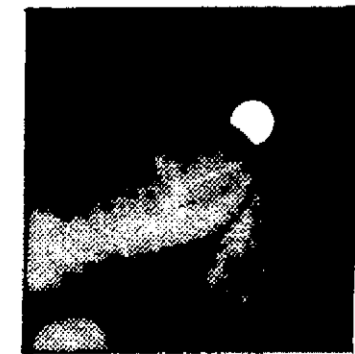

...In a teen-ager's room to give privacy...

...In the living room by your favorite chair

The Princess phone with dial and night lights built in costs only pennies a day after a one-time charge. Your choice of five colors.

Now Science Stops Useless Coughing with a Tiny Tablet and a sip of water!

What is useless coughing? There are two kinds of coughs. 1. Productive—the occasional useful cough that clears the throat and bronchial tubes. DONDRIL does not interfere with the useful cough. 2. Non-productive—the nagging cough that racks the body, exhausts, and serves no purpose. DONDRIL stops useless coughing.

Controls nerves that control coughing due to colds and excessive smoking. Helps break up bronchial congestion—raises phlegm.

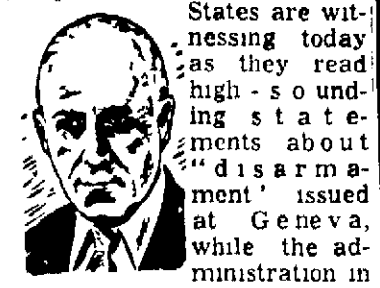

NEW YORK, N. Y. (Special) A major breakthrough in cough control is now announced with the introduction to the public of a new anti-cough tablet. It's a tiny tablet...to be taken with a sip of water. Working through the bloodstream, this remarkable tablet stops useless coughing up to 6 full hours. Called DONDRIL Anti-Cough Tablets, this entirely new concept in cough control is now available without prescription.

The astonishing relief offered by DONDRIL is made possible by a combination of three great medicines...a unique antitussive, a medically-proven decongestant and an exclusive antihistamine. DONDRIL has twice the effectiveness of codeine, yet is non-narcotic. Get DONDRIL Anti-Cough Tablets. Money back if not satisfied. DONDRIL is a trademark.

Lawrence Says
Disarmament
Plans Useless
Without Trust

Soviet Suggestion
Has Merit Only
For Propaganda

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — Could there be any stranger paradox than the one that the United States are witnessing today as they read the high-sounding statements about "disarmament" issued at Geneva, while the administration in Washington is being assailed inside and outside of congress by would-be presidential candidates for failing to keep up with Russia on the production of missiles?

It is solemnly asserted that America is taking a big risk in "letting the Russians get ahead." In Geneva an American delegation is striving to find some light in the darkness of the international debate by urging that "joint studies" be undertaken. The purpose would be to provide a "means of preventing aggression and preserving world peace and security, as national armaments are reduced, by an international organization, to be an organ of, or linked to, the United Nations."

Soviet Promises
The Soviet delegation thinks it's all very simple, and proposes that disarmament be completed in three stages within the next four years. In the first stage, armies are to be reduced and conventional weapons curtailed. In the second place, all conventional forces would be eliminated, and all foreign bases would be liquidated. This means missile bases as well as bases for airplanes. The Soviets say this need not take more than about three years.

Then, when the west has deprived itself of most of its present means of military retaliation, the Soviets promise they will start to destroy their own nuclear weapons, missiles and rockets.

Who is going to believe that the Soviets will carry out their agreement? They have not heretofore honored their solemnly given pledges. And what would the west be able to do if the Soviets three years hence changed their minds? If the United States has abandoned its missile and air forces abroad, Europe would be at the mercy of the communists.

How anyone in Moscow could believe that the west would ever accept such a plan is puzzling indeed. It may be the Soviets are interested solely in world-wide propaganda which places them in the sanctified position of being against war and in favor of "complete and general disarmament."

Reduced Armies
Skepticism about Soviet sincerity is constantly apparent in the speeches of the western delegates at Geneva. The British delegate, David Ormsby-Gore, says there is no use "blinking at the fact that suspicion exists between nations and they will not be convinced that their neighbors have in fact reduced their forces until they have proof of it."

But the west must give the appearance at least of striving for disarmament. All sorts of plans and proposals have been offered which look toward better understanding and perhaps partial disarmament over a long period of time.

The Russians to be sure, are ready to reduce land armies for two reasons—expense and obsolescence. Land armies are primarily useful for "clean-up" operations or for "limited wars." Ever since the United States came up with its "new look" policy a few years ago, it has been clear that sooner or later the Soviets would likewise cut land armies and place their main reliance on missiles and airplanes.

Must Destroy Bombs
The key to a disarmament plan will have to be looked for in any provisions to abolish nuclear weapons and the means of producing them. As long as one side or the other has a substantial supply of H-bombs and warheads for missiles in its stockpile, the pledge to stop producing any more such nuclear weapons will be meaningless. Until both sides are ready to arrange for the complete destruction of all nuclear bombs and of all means of transporting them, there will be no effective disarmament.

Until mutual confidence prevails and the causes that are back of the international tensions of today are removed, there can be no assurance that any disarmament plan will ever be carried out. Despite the righteous indignation of the world and its loudly expressed fears of what would happen to humanity in a nuclear war.

Elks, Wives Sport Bit O' Green for Festivities

The Appleton Elks Club was the setting Saturday evening for a gala St. Patrick's day party, complete with green buttons and flowers. Mrs. Norbert Loerke pins a bit of green on Elmer Kelley, chairman of the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Horn enjoy their St. Patrick's day dinner at the Elks club before joining in the Irish jigs and festivities held after the dinner Saturday evening.

Medical Auxiliary Plans Dinner Dance

The Outagamie County Medical society auxiliary elected officers and made initial plans for a semi-formal dinner dance when the group met Thursday evening at the Appleton Elks club.

Officers for the coming year are Mrs. Paul Cunningham, president, Mrs. Marvin Kagen, president-elect, Mrs. William Chandler, secretary, and Mrs. Ernest Miller, treasurer.

Mrs. William B. Hildebrand reviewed "Looking Up," by Gene Boyle Needham. Mrs. John Russo and Mrs. F. S. Marshall were co-hostesses.

The dinner dance will be held at 8 p. m., April 23, at the Appleton Elks club for medical and dental society members and wives. Committee chairmen for the event are Mrs. Robert DeCook and William Chandler, co-chairmen, D. W. Curtin, cocktail parties, W. S. Giffin and B. J. Haza, decorations, T. M. Loesch, invitations, W. H. Hale, flowers, and J. C. Curry, reservations.

Pre-dinner cocktail parties will be held at the homes of Dr. and Mrs. James Gmeiner, 1560 Palisades drive, Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Curtin, 308 W. Kimberly avenue, Kimberly, Dr. and Mrs. John Russell, 1112 E. Melrose street, and Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Zeiss, 1240 E. Opechee street.

Leo Schmidt and his orchestra will provide music and proceeds from the event will go to the American Medical Education Foundation.

Greek Clubs Give Party

"Scandals of '27" was the theme of an informal party given Saturday night by a Lawrence college sorority and fraternity. Guests in roaring '20s costumes were entertained at Stroebe's Island by Kappa Alpha Theta and Beta Theta Pi.

In charge of Theta arrangements were Mary Bartels, Janesville, Andrea Peters, Charles, Ill., and Judy Kaufman, Chicago, Ill. Beta committee chairmen were Jon Pearl, Chicago, Ill., and Arthur Ullian, Newton Center, Mass.

Entertains Club

Mrs. Mary Walker, 1930 W. Wisconsin avenue, entertained past presidents of the Geo. D. Eggleston Women's Relief corps at a dinner Friday noon. The next meeting will be April 15 at the home of Mrs. John Wheeler, 1125 W. Spencer street.

Choral Group Will Present King David

First performance in this area of the symphonic psalm "King David" by contemporary composer Arthur Honegger has been set for 7:30 p. m. Passion Sunday, April 3 in the Lawrence Memorial chapel by the Lawrence Choral society, under the direction of LaVahn Maesch.

Two narrators, a choir of 150 voices, three adult and two juvenile soloists, and orchestral accompaniment comprise the program which depicts the life of David, from his anointment as God's chosen to his death.

Modern Oratorio

The modern oratorio is an offspring of 18th century liturgical music which disappeared with the evolution of Italian opera and the German style of passion music.

The German influence of 17th century composer Heinrich Schütz produced a form far removed from opera and more suitable for church and religious concerts. Schütz used "chorales" as if they were the voice of the audience. Honegger has adapted this German style in his use of narrators to tell the story

Check Room Girls Let Off Steam, List Favorite Winter Gripes

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: Every now and then you defend a cause or a group such as waitresses, taxi-drivers, newspaper carriers, etc. I hope you'll print this letter in behalf of check room girls.

This is the sort of stuff we get pulled on us every winter:

One man will come up and collect six coats and give me a quarter. He acts as if he is trying to save time but I know his crowd is too cheap to claim their own coats.

Then some slob will show up, throw six pennies on the counter and say "Sorry, honey, this is all the change I have."

Another jerk will put down a half dollar, squeeze my hand and lean over for a kiss. Women are worse than men. They act dumb just because they don't have a male escort.

The usual line is "Do I have to pay?"

Heaven help the hat check girl when a woman's organization is giving a party. One night I worked six hours for 90 cents.

Some men send their wives for both coats because they think a woman shouldn't have to pay anything.

Then there's always the egg-head who can operate an atom-smasher but can't hang on to his coat check. He has to come behind the counter to find his coat, and has a terrible time recognizing it. Some of the rock-heads can't even remember what they wore.

The cheap-skate who beefs about spending a quarter to have his coat and hat watched all evening thinks nothing of paying $1 to park his car in a lot. If people are too chintzy to pay a quarter for this service they should advertise the fact by wearing their coats and hats to the table. Thank you. —Sue Z. Q.

In Good Taste Couple Lets Visitor Sit By Herself

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening my fiancé and I and a cousin of mine, who was visiting with us, went to the movies. When we arrived there were no seats available so we waited at the back of the theater. After about 20 minutes the usher came over and said that there were three seats available — a double and a single seat two rows away. We decided to take them rather than stand. My fiancé and I took the double seat and my cousin sat in the single seat. I think she thought us very rude in letting her sit alone and that my fiancé would have taken the single seat. Will you please tell me if we were discourteous?

Answer: If you have very recently become engaged and your cousin is someone you see often, your sitting with your fiancé was understandable and not too rude, but otherwise you should not have let her sit alone.

Double Checking

Dear Mrs. Post: Whenever my boy friend and I dine out and the bill is presented to him at the end of dinner, he always double checks the bill to see that he is not being overcharged. Not only is this very embarrassing to me, but I think it is very bad manners on his part and is a reflection on the waiter's honesty. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: There's nothing wrong in quickly checking the bill to see that it is correct. If he fusses over it and searches for flaws, it would be very bad manners.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-27, entitled, "Afternoon Tea," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E.P., care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

Erin Go Bragh and All That a' there. The Elks club was a merry place Saturday evening as members and wives, whether real Irishmen or not, joined in the wearing o' the green. About to approach Blarney's palace are Mr. and Mrs. John Morrissey and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zuelzke. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ornstein and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Deprez, above, do an Irish jig in keeping with the evening's festivities.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Spring Silhouette

For the spring and summer seasons, American dress designers offer the bloused line, the eased sheath and the shirtwaist. All are neatly belted at the normal waist.

Paris designers favor two quite different silhouettes. One is the princess, a rather free-flowing affair with a lightly indented waist. The other, the long-torso line, places emphasis on the hip, through belting or seaming.

Doubtless, in choosing among those silhouettes, you will be guided by individual flattery. Even so, to wear any of them well, you cannot underestimate the power of coordinated underpinnings.

For the purpose of close harmony, new foundations are expertly engineered. To be specific: Bras that give a rounded, youthful lift, due to newly shaped undercup wiring. Long-line bras with semi-princess styling. Torsolets that nip the waist. Cuff-top girdles, also for waist control. Girdles that concentrate on control at the upper hipline, via bias reinforcements. Princessline corselets.

Never fear, none of those innovations makes for construction. Foundations constructed with a feather touch. Deft construction and incredibly lightweight fabrics make it so.

Our Children

Action, Understanding Needed for Slow Child

BY ANGELO PATRI

There are children, and grown people also, who live by a slow rhythm. The child who takes forever to dress in the morning, who has to be pushed to finish his breakfast, to get into his coat, take his books and his ball and get along to school is a problem. But there he is!

He is a well-intentioned child. He intends to conform to the demand of the minute, but something within him slows him to a stop. Then something outside him has to start him ahead again. A certain degree of acceptance here is imperative. It is not possible to convert a child who is set to slow music into one who moves in jig-time. But a compromise can, indeed, must be made.

First, ask the family physician to go over him carefully, testing his senses, one by one. Testing his blood. Weighing and measuring him. Talk to him to bring out any quirks of thought that might be standing in his way.

If glasses are in order, see that he wears them. If his hearing is imperfect, attend to it as far as may be. Throat and nose must be clear, metabolism perfect. If he is pronounced fit and hearty, fine. If treatment is indicated, he must have it.

Clock as Monitor

He will still be slow. Make up your mind to that, because that is the way he was set at the beginning, and that is the way he will live, move and have his being. But in order that he may live more easily with other people, and they with him, teach him about the clock. Make it his monitor. See that he gets up by it, eats, dresses, gets to school by it. That takes close supervision but it will help.

Allow him more time than is allowed his quicker brothers and sisters. Then push him to work within that span. If he needs 15 minutes to do what his brother does in five, grant it but hold him within it.

When he is doing his homework measure his time, so many minutes per example. Give him a few more than is given the faster workers.

Working to music helps such children sometimes, music to a rhythm just a bit faster than their own. A wrist watch to put him on his own after experience in timing himself otherwise, helps also.

But give this slow-moving child grace, a little more time, a word of appreciation for work well done. He is a trustworthy, effective, intelligent person if granted a little allowance for his peculiar rhythm.

Angelo Patri offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning child training. If you would like to have his leaflet P-5, Trouble with Numbers Table, send 10 cents in coin to him, in care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Prepare Firstborn Child To Accept New Addition

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M.D.

It is nearly impossible to prevent a firstborn child from feeling some jealousy when a new baby moves into his home. But the more sensitive you are to the feelings of your toddler, the easier you will make it for him, and the more likely he will grow up to have real affection for his younger brother or sister. Don't expect the impossible—you will have some jealousy—just be on the alert to see it in whatever camouflage it appears and ready to accept and reassure your first born.

Some advance preparations help. The older child should know about the coming of the new baby before the big day arrives. But if the older youngster is under 3, his time sense is not too well developed. Next week, next month, next year, may seem to him all lumped together as "soon".

Better tell him several months before the birth is expected but as to date be vague. "Some day we are going to have a new baby in this house." Tell him where the baby is now and how you are taking care of him until he gets big enough to move into the room you are fixing up for him.

Try to give your 2½-year-old some concept of what a new baby is like. He may well be expecting a playmate. Take him to visit friends or relatives with babies young enough to lie in cribs so that he sees for himself that the new baby won't be a playmate. Show him some pictures of himself in his early months, tell him how little and helpless he was — "Why you couldn't walk or talk" — "and in this picture you were so little you couldn't even hold your own head up." Tell him, "The new baby will be very much the way you were when we first got you."

One way to help the toddler to grow up to his Big Brother role is to graduate him to a grown-up bed long before the new baby arrives so that he doesn't feel pushed out and made to give up his place and possessions.

Get him his new bed with a good bit of talk about how grown up he is. Retire the crib or bassinet, and bring it out, freshly painted, after the older child has about forgotten it. This helps to prevent him from feeling pushed out. Do the same thing with any other equipment you intend to pass on from one child to the next.

Get used to calling him your Big Boy and stop calling him your baby. To have your title suddenly applied to someone else is sometimes upsetting.

Some preparation for the fact that mother must go away "to get the new baby" is essential. You may explain:

"Mother has to work very hard to push out the baby, the doctor will help her, but she will be tired out afterwards and will need to rest in the hospital for a few days. But she won't be gone long and you and Daddy, or you and Grandma can keep house together while she is gone."

Then comes the big day when mother and baby come home from the hospital. Don't expect your toddler to be as interested in the baby as you are. He will want a reunion with his mother uncluttered with a darling baby sister or brother. Don't make a fuss over the baby, greet the older child with warmth and enthusiasm and only casually show him the newcomer.

his brains on that sort of question. When there's an irresistible force anywhere in the neighborhood, the bridge expert just looks for a way to dodge.

East won the first trick with the king of diamonds and then led the ace of diamonds. South ruffed and led a trump to dummy's king.

When West discarded a heart on the first round of trumps South detected an irresistible force just a few inches away from his right ear. There was no way to stop East from winning two trump tricks.

South could avoid the loss of a club trick only by skillful dodging. It isn't easy to see the right line of play, so you might have some fun looking for it before you read on.

Ruffs Diamond
South began by ruffing another diamond. Then he took three rounds of hearts, cashed the top clubs, and led dummy's last diamond.

By this time East was reduced to three trumps and the queen of clubs. South had three trumps and a low club. If East ruffed, South would dodge by discarding his losing club. East would get his two trumps, but would not get a club trick.

If East discarded the queen of clubs instead of ruffing, South would ruff dummy's diamond. That would be his ninth trick, and the ace of trumps would supply the tenth. East would get his two trump tricks, but he'd capture South's losing club with one of the top trumps.

Either way, South's contract was assured.

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S—None, H—7 5 4 2, D—Q 9 7 6 2, C—10 9 7 2. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. There is no safe way to rescue your partner when your own hand is so hopeless. In the long run you will lose less if you pass with such hands. If your partner is doubled, and the double is passed for penalties, bid one NT as the beginning of a rescue operation.

Housewives List Kitchen Ideals

American women have positive preferences as to the shape and equipment of kitchens — but they are not all in agreement.

This is indicated by a study of the transcript of the discussion on kitchens at the Family conference on housing, held last fall at the National Housing center in Washington.

One school came out strongly for the corridor-type

Husband and wife teams from various parts of the country voiced definite housing likes and dislikes at the Family Conference on Housing, held last fall in Washington, D. C. Their views, whether in agreement, or conflict, were interesting. This is the first of five articles based on a study of the transcript.

Kitchen, which, one woman said, "supplies more storage more countertop and more efficiency."

Another group as strongly preferred the L-shaped or U-shaped kitchen "because there you can eat your meals in the center."

Still others agreed with the woman who said the shape "really isn't important to me — I could get along in the corridor or with the L or the U-shaped, as long as it was big enough."

A husband appeared to speak for the men among the nearly 100 delegates.

Stress Convenience

"My only comment is let's not try to wear the woman out," he said. "Let's try to put everything where she doesn't have to run all over the kitchen. Whether you have additional (eating) space in the kitchen, I don't think matters. But the actual work area should be so you can get to refrigerator, drainboard, and to sell her (his wife) on a dishwasher," he said. "Now, the television set can be burned out, the washer-dryer can be broken down, but the dishwasher has to be running perfectly. It is the most wonderful appliance ever put in a kitchen."

This kitchen is compactly designed and features complete food preparation, cooking and cleanup centers. Storage facilities are spacious and there is plenty of countertop work area. The kitchen is in the heart of things as the pass-through opening at left leads to a combination hobby and laundry room, close enough to keep an eye on things.

But a woman next to him said, "I don't have a dishwasher and I have no desire for one."

Another at the same round table put in "I have one and wouldn't be without it. There are only two of us but it still seems just a waste of time all your life to spend a couple of hours or an hour doing dishes when you could be improving your mind."

This brought a retort from a woman who said she didn't like doing dishes either but while doing them, "I can think and plan things."

Others said that garbage disposers and freezers were additional appliances they'd like but their remarks evoked little debate.

Clock Shows the Way

BY CHARLES M. CROWE

"Jesus saith unto him, I am the way" — John 14:6

The use of longitude is a necessary aid to navigation. The secret of longitude lies in many valuable ship cargoes were lost because no one knew what time it was.

It remained for a clock-maker named John Harrison to solve the problem. He started working on it at 21 and finished at the age of 66. His chronometer lost only five seconds on a test voyage of 500 miles. At long last the men who journeyed the seas could locate themselves anywhere in the world. At last they had a dependable standard. They were freed from the terror of the unknown.

Those who make their journey through the unknown years also need a dependable guide, a chronometer to give location and direction. They find it in Jesus Christ. Without Him many lives are lost and much talent wasted. In Him we find our perfect chronometer to give us our bearings and show us the way.

In Him we find that the center of the universe is not nothingness, nor abstract idea, nor matter, nor force. It is rather a loving God who finds us wherever we are and directs us home. "I am the way." When this is so we never need get lost on the open seas of philosophy or science. Jesus is a dependable guide for all voyagers. He frees us from fear of the unknown.

Read: John 14:1-14

PRAYER: Eternal God, we would ever keep the Master in view. And so we would straighten out our thinking and find the true direction of our journey. Amen.

Turn-Around Idea Saves Rug Wear

Plan it that way, and the rug which jogs around floor irregularities can be turned, to distribute wear. Choose a rug that won't show seaming and re-seaming — a tweedy mixture is excellent. Then, instead of having the rug cut into—to fit it around a hearth, for example—keep it a rectangle and have extra pieces taped on. Before heavy traffic areas wear too much the extra pieces can be removed the large rectangular body of the rug can be turned and the extra pieces can be taped on again to the newly turned side of the rug.

In a room where the floor isn't good looking enough to show more than necessary, this turn-around idea is especially practical. The rug can fit the room almost to the walls and still be turned to avoid uneven wear. Strips that cover floor at both sides of a hearth like this—or of a radiator or a shallow recess—won't see much wear and can stay where they are while the rest of the rug stays so much fresher for an occasional shift of position.

Mrs. C. H. E. "We bought an old player piano in good condition except for a worn and dull finish, which no amount of wax improves. My idea is to paint it the turquoise of the walls so it won't stand out too much in the room, which isn't too large but my husband doesn't agree. The sectional upholstered furniture in the room is gray tweed, tables are mahogany and there is a gold tweed chair. The woodwork is white and the draperies background gray, turquoise and pink paint.

Appleton LWV Sends Out Invitations in Wards With Contests

The Appleton League of Women Voters will launch a new idea for their customary candidates meetings held just before election.

This year they will hold three informal open houses to give voters in the six wards where there are contests a chance to talk informally with candidates.

All the candidates for aldermanic posts and the county board have been invited and handbill invitations to homes in the six wards will be delivered by this week. Most of the delivering is being done by Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts.

The open houses will be held simultaneously, from 8 to 10 p.m. Thursday night, March 31. League members will serve as hostesses.

3 Locations

The open house for the second and twelfth wards will be at the home of Mrs. M. M. Sealts, 640 E. Atlantic street. Voters of the Fourth and

Wisconsin Births Exceed 100,000 For First Time

Madison—(P)—Births in Wisconsin in 1959 exceeded 100,000 for the first time, the state board of health reports.

Preliminary figures show the total was 100,035 an increase of 4,004 compared with 1958 and the largest gain since 1951.

Appleton Memorial hospital records show 1,333 births since the opening date in February, 1958. St. Elizabeth had 1,582 births in 1958 and 1,542 in 1959.

A total of 25,739 marriages were recorded, compared with 24,985 in 1958 and 25,723 in 1957.

The increasing birth rate reflects the established trend toward larger families and mirrors the pre-World War II baby boom with the children born two decades ago now beginning to marry and have families of their own," the report said.

Patrolman's Child Hurt in Accident

Kaukauna—Sherry Spice, 8-year-old daughter of county patrolman and Mrs. Calvin Spice, 505 E. Nineteenth street, suffered bruises when she ran into the side of a car driven by Marie E. Biese, route 3, Kaukauna, about 2:40 p.m. Saturday.

According to police, Sherry, crossing Second street in the middle of the block, walked into the left front fender of the car traveling west. The child was treated by her family physician.

Kennedy Talks in Marinette Area

Hits Humphrey's 'Midwestern' Appeal, Not His Voting Record

Post-Crescent News Service

Marinette — Spring and Sen. John Kennedy came to this corner of Wisconsin Sunday. Of the two, Kennedy received the most attention.

In three motion-filled hours, Kennedy outlined his hopes in the April 5 Democratic presidential primary to 115 persons at a late morning breakfast at the Oconto American Legion golf club and spoke to nearly 500 persons at a dinner in the Central Catholic High school gymnasium, Marinette.

Kennedy even making a few impressions on Michigan voters. Nearly 50 persons stood around in a snow squall at the airport in Menominee, Mich., where the tour started and ended, to look at Kennedy.

Kennedy's staff distributed a detailed statement on farm credit as the speaking text for the trip, but the senator limited himself to generalized talks in which he, in effect, replied to Sen. Hubert Humphrey's view that "midwestern progressives" must stick together. The Minnesota senator over the weekend attacked Kennedy's farm voting record as one real difference between the two candidates in the primary.

Not Governor

The decision in the April primary is to select a presidential preference, not a state governor or senator, Kennedy said. The nation's problems are the same from Maine to Hawaii, he said.

"I am running not as a midwesterner. I have not grown up on a dairy farm. I am a stranger, I suppose, in some ways in Wisconsin.

Contrasts With Humphrey
"But in the New Hampshire primary, I said I hoped no one would vote for me only because I came from the adjoining state of Massachusetts," Kennedy said in making a clear contrast with Humphrey.

"The people of Wisconsin are acting for all the people of the United States who are deprived an opportunity to participate in the selection of a presidential candidate," Kennedy said.

If anyone was worried about an eastern president, Kennedy recalled that Franklin D. Roosevelt and Theodore Roosevelt "did more to develop the western United States than any other presidents."

Humphrey Record 'Good'
"I have said I am not going to engage in debate with him (Humphrey) on his voting record, which I believe to be good," Kennedy said.

About 440 persons paid $3 for tickets for the dinner in Marinette, like Oconto, a community with a Republican reputation. About 25 persons who wanted to hear Kennedy but not eat bought $1 "bleacher tickets."

Kennedy was introduced at Marinette by Dist. Atty. Francis Murphy, county Democratic chairman, and at Oconto by James Martineau.

No Time for Dinner
The program at the Marinette dinner had to be telescoped and Kennedy spoke before the meal because he had to be in Milwaukee for 3 p.m. reception.

Kennedy explained what he has learned about Wisconsin geography.

"You can put all of the state of Massachusetts in the Wisconsin 10th congressional district. This campaign requires that we never eat lunch and rarely eat dinner," he said.

Zaugs Going to Memorial for Air Crash Victims
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zaug, Pompano Beach, Fla., are traveling to the scene of the airplane crash near Dodo, Ind., in which their daughter, Miss Suzanne Zaug, and 62 other persons were killed last week.

Memorial services will be held at the scene. The Zaugs are former residents of New London.

Matches in the Hands of Small Boys caused destruction of a storage barn on the Steve Thon farm, town of Buchanan, about 12:30 p.m. Saturday. The loss was estimated at $3,000, including several pieces of farm equipment.

Berken Removes Two Legion Board Members

Refusal to Print Paper Backing National Candidate Leads to Firing

State American Legion board is Donald Haynes, 1019 Commander Lloyd Berken, 615 W. Summer street, has dismissed two members of the legion's newspaper board for refusing to put out a special issue of the Legion paper backing Atty. William Haese, Milwaukee, for national commander.

They are David Cis, Milwaukee, and Clayton E. Helmer, Beldenville. Both are members of the newspaper board.

The third member of the board is Donald Haynes, 1019 W. Oklahoma street.

Cis said they were fired for refusing to publish a 12-page edition in May devoted to Haese's candidacy for national commander. Berken appeared before the board to ask for the special May issue and said the special issue was in line with the wishes of state Legionnaires who voted last year in convention to support Haese for the national office.

Cis said he and Helmer felt that the Legionnaire, the Legion publication, should not be used to support Haese or any other candidate for office.

A motion by Helmer to block the special issue passed 2 to 1, with Haynes voting for the special issue. The two men were dismissed after the vote.

Won't Comment
Commander Berken was at Legion headquarters in Milwaukee today and Haynes declined comment.

Prior to the vote, Cis said he had no objection to running the Haese candidacy as a news story, but would not devote an issue to backing him.

Berken said the extra cost of putting out the special issue would be partially absorbed by a $5,000 donation by the Milwaukee Cudworth post to support Haese as national commander.

The paper has a circulation of about 80,000 and prints a monthly 8-page issue.

Youth's Auto Collides With Bay Mayor's

Green Bay—Mayor Roman Denissen and his wife, Ursula, were hospitalized Saturday night after their car was involved in a collision with the auto of an Appleton youth at a northeastern Green Bay intersection.

The mayor suffered a severe laceration near his left eye and rib injuries. Mrs. Denissen received a back injury and bruises. They were taken by ambulance to St. Vincent hospital.

Denissen was driving east on Willow street at 8:30 p.m. The vehicle was struck in the left side by the auto of Frank Offenbacher, 17, Appleton, who was traveling south on N. Baird street.

Young Offenbacher suffered a cut eye in the crash while a passenger in his car, Linda Engelman, 15, 202 Allen ave., received a bump on her head.

Denissen told police that the collision occurred as he was slowing for the Baird street intersection because of long lines of cars parked on both sides of the street.

Former Area Teacher Dies in Chilton
Chilton — Mrs. David Mortimer, 52, route 1, Chilton, a former Chilton area teacher, died at 4:30 p.m. Sunday in Chilton after a long illness. She was born Oct. 6, 1907, in Two Rivers.

She taught school in the area after graduating from Manitowoc Normal school until she married in 1935.

Funeral services will be at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Mary Catholic church, with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call after 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Erbe-Hoffmann Funeral home, where the rosary will be said at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Franklin Bartel, Manitowoc; her widower, a daughter, Loretta, and a son, Thomas, all at home; and four brothers, Joseph and Franklin Bartel, both of Sheboygan, George Bartel, New Jersey, and Peter Bartel, Two Rivers.

Trio of Boys Blamed for Barn Fire

11, 12-Year-Olds Toss Match Into Straw During Hike

A hike into the woods for three Kaukauna boys ended in destruction of a storage barn on the Steve Thon farm in the town of Buchanan.

The trio, two 11 and one 12, told the story of the fire when questioned by Kaukauna Police Lt. Robert Main, Earl Schwabe, Brillion, deputy state fire marshal, and Sheriff's Lt. Jack Zuelzke.

They entered the barn after cooking a meal in the woods. In their play, a lighted match fell into the straw and the barn started to burn.

The boys ran about three-quarters of a mile to a farmhouse, where they reported the fire as though three other boys had started it. Thon was notified and he picked them up as they walked along the highway.

During the questioning at the Kaukauna police department the boys changed their story.

Two Fox Cities Teachers Get Fellowships

AHS, Menasha Men Will Study Math, Biology

Two Fox Cities high school teachers have received 3 summer advanced science fellowships from the National Science Foundation.

They are John W. Long, science instructor at Menasha High school, and Harvey H. Reinholz, biology instructor at Appleton High school.

Long will study mathematics at the University of Wisconsin the next three summers. Last summer, he took part in his third special study course under the foundation's auspices, at the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago. Last summer's course also was on mathematics.

In 1956-57, Long was on leave from Menasha to receive his master's degree, and he attended a summer institute at the University of North Dakota in 1957. Both were financed by the foundation.

Reinholz will study biology at Northwestern university, where he received his MS degree in biology in 1956. He was graduated from Appleton

High school in 1941 and Lawrence college in 1951. He served in the marine corps for 4½ years during World War II.

Reinholz has taught at Appleton High since 1956, and has been in school during seven of the last 11 summers. Last summer he had an NSF scholarship to attend the University of Wisconsin.

The foundation grants, given to 500 high school science and mathematics teachers, provide full tuition and fees at schools of teachers' choice, as well as $75 a week stipend, travel and dependency allowances.

Basis for the awards, according to the foundation, is ability. Such supplementary courses last year were offered only as 1-summer programs. This year's 3-summer study grant recipients are from 45 states, with 228 concentrating on mathematics, 173 in life sciences, 55 in physical sciences and 46 in general science.

Mrs. Arthur Deering
Mrs. Arthur Deering, 56, of 115 Algoma street, New London, died at 8 p.m. Sunday after a short illness.

She was born Oct. 24, 1903, in the town of Liberty and lived in New London and Milwaukee most of her life.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Emanuel Lutheran church, New London. Friends may call at the Cline and Hanson Funeral home, New London, after 2 p.m. Tuesday until 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, then at the church. Burial will be in Floral Hill cemetery, New London.

Mrs. Deering is survived by her widower; one stepson, Robert Deering, Milwaukee; one brother, Irving Huebner, Shiocton; and four sisters, Mrs. William McKay, Argonne, Mrs. Edward Loewenhagen, Appleton, Mrs. Elmer Boelter, Oshkosh, and Mrs. Mayford Kopitzke, New London.

Lloyd Fink

Lloyd Fink, 37, of 308 E. Fifteenth street, Kaukauna, died at 6:30 a.m. Sunday after a short illness.

Fink worked for 15 years at Combined Locks Paper company. He was born in Marion on April 2, 1922.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Bethany Lutheran church, Kaukauna, with burial in Highland Memorial park, Appleton. Friends may call at the Greenwood Funeral home, Kaukauna, after 7 p.m. to Appleton, and until Wednesday noon.

Survivors are his widow; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fink, Kaukauna; one brother, Duane Fink, Neenah; four half-brothers, Lawrence, Donald, Gerald and Eugene Fink, and four half-sisters, Carol, Laura, Diane and Lois Fink, all of Kaukauna.

Mrs. Nettie Myhre

Mrs. Nettie Myhre, 87, formerly of Iola, died in Nelson-Manitowoc after a short illness.

She was born on July 1, 1872, in the town of Iola and lived in the Iola area until a year ago.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Our Saviour Lutheran church, Iola, with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Voie Funeral home, Iola, until noon Tuesday and then at the church.

Survivors include two sons, Lyle Gullikson, Red Wing, Minn., and Sidney Gullikson, Portage; three brothers, Halbert Swenson, Waupaca, C. J. Swenson, Iola, and Walter Swenson, Walla Walla, Wash.

Friends may call at the Voie Funeral home, Iola, today. Burial will be at Bear Creek.

Survivors include three children.

Sylvan Stahl Admits Rape Count, Denies Enticement

Chilton — Sylvan Stahl, 24, route 2, Reedsville, this morning in circuit court pleaded guilty of statutory rape and taking indecent liberties with a minor. He denied charges of having relations with a girl known to be mentally deficient and of enticing a girl into a car for immoral purposes.

Judge Helmuth F. Arps directed the public welfare department to give Stahl mental, physical and social examinations at Central State Mental hospital, Waupun, before sentencing. Trial on the other charges will be set after the examination.

The arraignment of Herbert Baer, 21, St. Nazianz, was postponed at the request of his counsel. Baer is charged with taking indecent liberties with a minor and enticing a girl into a car for immoral purposes.

Both were arrested Feb. 3, after a 15-year-old New Holstein girl complained of being criminally assaulted.

Man Ticketed After Ambulance Collision

Emil J. Belling, 69, of 1207 W. Brewster street, was charged with failing to yield the right-of-way to an emergency vehicle Saturday by Appleton police.

Belling's car collided with Larry's ambulance, driven by Clarence C. Hopfensperger, 47, of 218 S. Story street, as Hopfensperger traveled north on Richmond street near Glendale avenue.

New York — The National Broadcasting company — which has not yet received the manuscript — may find itself running headlong into controversy with its projected Sunday Showcase drama about the Sacco and Vanzetti case.
Feelings still run high over the fate of two Italian-born men executed more than 30 years ago for the slaying of two men in a payroll robbery in Massachusetts. Many are convinced they were innocent. Others still say they were guilty. And a lot of others just wish the sore subject wouldn't be raised again.

TV Westerns May Become Less Violent

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
Hollywood — There is no stint in the trek of western shows across the TV screen. But they may get less violent.
Gun-shy viewers can find little comfort in the projected 1960-61 TV season. Most horse epics appear able to survive option time, and there will be new ones to sub for the few that are dropped.

'Gunsmoke' Will Hue To Realistic Line, Says Star Jim Arness

Teenagers Cause Pocketbook Pinch

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Saturday morning I took our 10-year-old daughter, Cris, to the orthodontist for the monthly installment of the braces on her teeth: cost, $30. On the way back, we stopped to get her a new pair of sturdy school shoes: cost, $8.95. It then being a nearby hamburger stand where she consumed an adult-sized medium-rare and malted: cost, 95 cents. When we got home she had her piano lesson: cost, $5. She spent a major part of the evening listening to her Christmas record player: cost, $45. She went to bed to read her new book on natural history: cost, $5.95.

Basic Economics

Only a few years ago that same Saturday shopping lunch trip would have cost at least one-third less — at least. Only a few years ago Cris' cost of living involved no such expenses as an orthodontist, piano lessons, expensive books, a "good" record player.

I can project the Saturday shopping-lunch trips a couple of years hence and boost the tag a minimum of 35 to 50 per cent. I'm not even trying to guess what will be the cost of her reading, records, recreation, hair-dos, etc.

This is a basic economics story of tremendous importance.

I have reported here in terms of my own Saturday experience the pocketbook pinch felt by millions of families across the land, and which will be felt with increasing intensity by mounting millions in the next five years.

This pocketbook pinch of 1960 is due only in minor part to the climbing cost of goods and services in recent years.

This pinch is due to the simple yet significant fact that the record number of babies born in our land in the first years after World War II are now entering the expensive teenage years. In these teenage years their consumption of food, their need for and destruction of clothes, their need for recreation, their need for dental, medical, recreation expenses reach heights anticipated by few parents.

For parents of only one or two teenagers the squeeze will be rough enough. For parents of three to five, food and clothing costs alone will rise by several hundreds of dollars in a single year.

Now the number in the 10-14 year age bracket is topping 17 million. These are the babies born in the years 1946 to 1949. Before 1965 this group will expand 11 per cent.

Now the number in the 15-19 year group tips 13,500,000. By 1965 this group will swell by 28 per cent.

No parent of a child 10 or over needs any elaboration on how the family's cost of living pattern is changing.

Challenge To Industry

One authoritative study puts the average annual cost of feeding a 1-year-old at $190 and the average cost of feeding the same child at 11 years at $318. It puts the average annual clothing cost of a 1-year-old at $36 and of the same child at 13 years at $133. To me, these are ridiculously low figures, but it's the trend that counts.

To industries competing for the spending dollars of adults with growing children, the shifting pattern of spending presents a hard, cold challenge. Incomes of these families must grow as the teenagers grow or something will have to give — and it'll be the adults' spending on things they want.

To such industries as food and textiles, though, the pattern should bring sheer delight. It may be an exaggeration to claim the teenagers and clothing costs alone will of 1960-65 are the American farmer's secret weapon, but they'll surely try to eat him into prosperity!

British Males Taking To Fashionable Derby

London — The cult of the hard derby—bowler to the British—is spreading west in a springtime surge of manly fashion.

Once it was almost exclusively the badge of the off-duty guards officer or the business executives who in habit that square mile of London called the City.

Now the fashion is rolling from London's financial quarter in the city, an undulating sea of black derbies, to the plush offices of the west end.

Derbies Bloom Lawyers, advertising executives, public relations men and auto salesmen are wearing them. Derbies bloom in Piccadilly.

And delighted hat-makers predict that soon women will be in on the act. It's about time, they say—women last caught the craze in 1948.

said Pennennis, "increases with the New Affluence."

Which means it's becoming even more the emblem of the well-heeled.

"London, of course, is the bowler H.Q.," Pennennis wrote, "and it is impossible to buy—or even to wear—a bowler, for instance, in Torquay."

Bigger Boom

But the derby boom is only part of a bigger boom in hats. Before World War II, most British men did not wear hats.

Now, say the hat-makers, 80 per cent of them wear sport headgear in a variety of shapes, colors and materials.

Antony Armstrong-Jones, Princess Margaret's fiancé who was to let the wind ruffle his locks, bought himself a soft felt hat last week. It made a fellow look more dignified when out with a princess.

County Treasurer Pays State $242,900 As Tax, Loan Share

Money Represents Collections
From Cities, Townships for 1959

Oshkosh — Payment of $242,940 in state taxes, loans and special charges to Winnebago county municipalities has been made by Treas. Earl E. Fuller to the state treasurer. The money represents the taxes imposed for 1959 and collected this year.

The payment includes $49,791 in state loans made to school districts, $86,218 in state taxes and $106,930 in state special charges.

The county treasurer also has paid to the state $21,768 in penal fines, $370 in occupational driver license permits, $214 as the state's 5 per cent share in dog licenses issued, $1,295 in circuit court suit taxes and $429 in occupational taxes.

The amounts of state taxes, loans and special charges paid in by the various municipalities in the northern half of the county are: Neenah, $36,756; Menasha, $23,725; Oshkosh, $47,710; Winneconne, $7,366; Town of Clayton, $5,342; town of Menasha, $19,422; town of Vinland, $11,260; town of Winneconne, $9,155, and town of Wolf River, $3,463.

Seek Write-in Votes for 5th Ward Contest

Menasha — A Fifth ward alderman write-in campaign opened over the weekend, providing contests in all but one city office in the April 5 election.

John Gollner, 32, 1042 Brighton drive, signed a declaration of intention to serve, if elected, at the city clerk's office this morning.

Gollner seeks the post held by George Stimp, the incumbent, who has no opposition on the city ballot. (Formal nominations closed Jan. 26.) Gollner is employed by his father at Herb's Food Town market as a meat cutter. This will be his first try for political office.

The write-in campaign is the first for a Menasha aldermanic post in many years.

Menasha School Survey Suggest Lighter Teacher Loads For Better Program Planning

Menasha — Major recommendations on improving the high school curriculum involve lighter class loads on teachers and better planned programs. The latter presumably could be done if teachers and department heads had the former, according to the Northwestern university curriculum audit team.

Their high school survey section is divided into 10 parts: art, business education, foreign language, home economics, industrial arts, mathematics, music, physical education, science and social studies.

By sections, the major recommendations and comments are:

Art
A daily art teacher schedule should be set up to allow preparation of tools, materials and projects. One free period before each two class periods is seen as an ideal. With few exceptions, the Northwestern evaluators said the course is "very satisfactory" and advocated a departmental head to provide administrative leadership and coordinate art planning with other departments.

Business Education
As a result of study of the business education program, the Northwestern group commented: "The program... is well integrated into the present educational plan of this unit and is under direction of a competent and dedicated staff."

A major recommendation is to ensure that students who are doing failing work in business education are transferred to preserve acceptable standards. "No business education course should be taken merely because it is the only non-academic course that can be worked into a pupil's program or because an adviser believes the student can pass the course," the survey report states.

Analysis of local employment of graduates who have taken business education to see whether the extent and nature of the course is adequate and realistic is another major suggestion.

Others are to reword course outlines to develop a correlated statement of departmental objectives.

English
"As in a number of other academic fields, the survey team was unfavorably impressed by the heavy load of (English) teachers. It is strongly recommended that the number of classes (each teaches per day) be reduced."

Dr. Margaret Lee commented that "the existing staff overload precludes major improvements in any phase of the program."

The Menasha schools are urged to study whether the English department should include journalism, speech and dramatics as semester or year-long courses.

In any case, the Northwestern team advocates at least one more free period a day for the English department chairman, and further de-

Humphrey to Talk Saturday At Oshkosh

County Democrats
To Honor Senator
At Noon Luncheon

Oshkosh — Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, presidential aspirant for the Democratic party nomination, will speak at a noon luncheon Saturday at the Raulf hotel.

This will be his only Winnebago county visit that day on which he will start in Milwaukee and make stops at Waukesha, West Bend and Fond du Lac before arriving here about 12:15 p. m. He will go to Waupaca, Amherst and Stevens Point and end his day with a television appearance at Wausau Saturday night.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made up to Saturday morning with Ted R. Jackson, county Humphrey-for-President committee chairman, and Elker Zarnott, Oshkosh.

Back March 28
The Minnesota senator is expected to return to Oshkosh Monday, March 28, for a 3-hour visit to plant gates and Oshkosh State college.

Plans also are being made for a dinner April 20 at the Raulf hotel at which Gov. Gaylord P. Nelson will be guest speaker.

Herbert Pitz, Oshkosh, has been appointed chairman of a committee to seek and promote Democratic candidates for county and state legislative offices. Also on the committee are Ronald Basken and John Dachel of Neenah. Chester Hofberger of Fremont and Phillip Staub, Dr. Paul Whyte, Morton Gazerwitz and Ted R. Jackson, all of Oshkosh.

The county Democratic party's next meeting will be at 8 p. m. Thursday at the Raulf hotel.

Pleads Innocent of Drunken Driving
Oshkosh — Harry O. Abendroth, 54, of 602 S. Commercial street, Neenah, in municipal court this morning, pleaded innocent to a drunken driving charge and trial was set for 2 p. m. March 30 by Acting Municipal Judge Floyd D. Atherton.

Abendroth was released on his own recognizance. He was arrested at 11:15 p. m. Saturday by a state highway patrolman on Highway 45 in the town of Vinland.

Wrong Time Given
Menasha — Lenten services at Trinity Lutheran church of Menasha will be at 8:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Wednesday and not at 7:30 and 8:30 in the evening as erroneously listed in the church services schedule Saturday.

Cane Cites Legion's Preparedness Stand

Menasha Post Joins Nationwide
Observation of Organization's Founding

Menasha — The American Legion's consistent stand for preparedness, love of God and country were praised Saturday by Assemblyman Arnold J. Cane of Menasha at the 41st birthday anniversary celebration of the Legion movement, observed at a Lenz-Gazecki post 152 dinner meeting.

The local post was founded Dec. 19, 1919.

Presented by Past Commander Harry H. Kind, who acted as toastmaster, Cane traced the history of the American Legion from the time a dinner was given by Lt. Col. Theodore Roosevelt in Paris in February 1919 for 20 officers of the American Expeditionary Forces, through the great national meeting in St. Louis in May 1919 and the granting of a charter by congress in September 1919.

He praised the Legion for its work for relief of wounded and disabled veterans, its endowment fund for orphans of veterans, and its education and community services.

Cane pointed out that the Legion is responsible for National Education week annually, a national campaign for public safety, its youth activities aimed at building American ideals. The assemblyman praised the Legion for its consistent stand for preparedness and its contention that only a strong America is a safe America.

3 Million Strong
Presently the American Legion numbers about three million veterans of World Wars I and II and the Korean war.

The Legion Auxiliary numbers about one million.

Four Girls Caught While Shoplifting
Oshkosh — Four Appleton girls, ranging from 10 to 13 years of age, were reprimanded Saturday afternoon by Winnebago county police after a dinner was given by Lt. Col. Theodore Roosevelt in Paris in February 1919 for 20 officers of the American Expeditionary Forces, through the great national meeting in St. Louis in May 1919 and the granting of a charter by congress in September 1919.

The youngsters returned the items they had taken which were worth $1.13. The girls were taken to their homes and their parents advised of their activities.

Optimists to See Space Travel Film
Neenah — A movie produced by the National Aeronautics and Space administration on "Time in Space" will be shown at the Optimist club meeting Tuesday noon at the Valley Inn.

Correction
Neenah — The Kiwanis club meeting, at which James E. Palm, North Central Airlines district traffic and sales manager at Green Bay, will speak will be Wednesday noon at the Valley Inn, not Monday noon as incorrectly stated in Saturday's Post-Crescent.

4-H Leaders Have Training In Cooking

Oshkosh — Comparisons of color, texture and flavor in different methods of cooking vegetables were made by 4-H food leaders at a Friday training meeting at Grace Lutheran church, Winchester.

Project leaders cooked cabbage in a medium amount of water as compared to a large amount of water. Frozen French beans were cooked and crisp bacon, buttered bread crumbs, salted peanuts and hollandaise sauce were used as seasonings.

Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent, showed slides of various ways to prepare vegetables and reviewed project literature.

Girls taking the project, "Vegetables in Our Meals," will be preparing vegetables by braising, broiling, cooking in a casserole, baking, pan frying and deep fat frying. They also will learn to make salads, relish trays and salad dressings.

Clubs represented at the training session were Beaver Valley, Mears, Mathison, Mikesville, Enterprise, Local Lassies and Winchester.

Lighten Class Loads, School Surveyors Say

crease in teaching load if the department is expanded by combining with other subjects.

Careful study of offerings and guidance provided in English on the junior high level is suggested this year, in anticipation of the junior division's move into a separate building next fall.

Foreign Language

The Northwestern study group advocates dropping the 2-year Latin course after those students who began the language last fall have completed. Instead, the education working machine and printers said, offer a third and later a fourth year of modern language, even if only a moderate demand exists.

Presumably the modern language would be Spanish, which now is given for two years. Students should be encouraged to take third and fourth years of foreign languages, if possible, so they can have solid grasp on the tongues.

A main reason is that "a classical language appears to be a luxury where demand is not great enough to support both a classical and a modern language." The reason for advocating more than two years' instruction in language is that "it is doubtful that many students gain or retain enough from two years to make its study worthwhile except as credits for gaining entrance into college."

Despite what the study team termed "an extremely heavy teaching and extra-curricular load," the language teacher "has organized and conducted her program efficiently." More books and Spanish - language recordings should be added to expand and improve the course the team concluded.

Home Economics

Junior high home economics is taught by one teacher in five daily period. The survey team says some thought should be given the teaching load and comments: "not many teachers are as dedicated to their subjects or pupils as is this teacher." But when the junior high moves to Butte des Morts school, a revised class load assignment should be made, to determine whether she will teach the subjects in both junior and senior levels.

Another year of home economics should be offered, and the home economics room might be rearranged for better demonstration of food lessons, the group further said.

Industrial Arts

A departmental chairman to supervise the industrial arts subjects is recommended. Subjects would be wood-working, machine and printing shops as well as mechanical drawing. Even if no chairman is named, closer coordination of industrial arts courses is suggested. "In view of the amount of preparation and maintenance work in industrial arts, strive for two years, divided into two periods a day for each year," the section advocates. Instruction in the department is "quite satisfactory in almost every respect and excellent in some. The instructors work hard and are masters of their crafts. The programs are well organized and taught," the survey group commented.

Mathematics

"The junior high school (mathematics) program, although open to improvement, was deemed an adequate one, but the survey team characterized senior high mathematics as barely satisfactory." The comments section begins the comments section.

However, "personnel presently employed are judged competent to improve the program if given the opportunity." Specific suggestions are to prepare junior and senior high courses of study. On the senior level, course sequences should be set up for college-bound and other graduates. All able college-bound students should be required to take four years of mathematics, including algebra in ninth grade.

Assuming a 7-period day, five classes a day should be the limit for teachers and four for the department head, it was suggested. Further, one more full time mathematics teacher should be employed.

Music

Formation of an orchestra to stimulate strings work and better music appreciation facilities are suggested.

Physical Education

Develop a more deliberately coordinated and unified program through all 13 years. Presently the high school program is under one head. The study team suggests planning and setting up a program through which pupils in physical education are classed and instructed according to their abilities.

Science

Priority for suitable science laboratory facilities in the new junior high center, in Butte des Morts school, is urged. Along with that are suggestions to assign 'junior high science to two teachers and to replan the junior high course to mesh well with the senior high course.

Senior high school classes, the Northwest group said, should be kept to their present sizes, and when enrollment increases, more teacher hours should be added through more teachers. Teacher loads should be kept at five periods a day.

A 2-track science program, to be a better help to pupils with varied abilities, should be instituted, they added.

The science department was urged to prepare its equipment needs so the board of education may purchase needed items within the next three years.

The curriculum guide in science should be expanded to make clear all concepts the department plans to teach, the study team said. Standardized tests should be employed, it added.

Under no circumstances should driver education, if ever offered again, become part of the science program, the group emphasized.

Social Studies

Continue to require three years and urge four years of social studies of college-bound students, says the survey report. Cut teacher load to five periods a day and increase students' research assignments at the same time, the group adds.

For quarters, the team suggested letting each social studies teacher have his own classroom, and the present junior high space should be given the social studies group.

The Northwestern group commended the department for its operations and its departmental handbook, which may need some revisions. The administration is urged to "support the efforts of the department while it has the momentum for self-improvement."

"Controversial issues and subjects should not be dodged. If they are eliminated from a social studies program, it loses its heart," the survey commented.

The most important recommendation seen by the Northwestern group is for teachers this year to work out details of their courses and submit them to the board of education for approval. English and social studies should be correlated as much as possible.

Miscellany

Some personal-social adjustment instruction should be given, either in a new class or incorporated into other offerings. But "the important point is that purposes of the course must be concrete, the subject matter solid and the evaluation procedures valid..." otherwise, the Northwestern group felt, the board of education and community

Brand Names Group
To Give Certificate
At New York May 6

Menasha — Terrell's Standard service station, 81 Racine street, has been selected to receive a runner-up certificate, May 6 in New York from the Brand Names foundation.

The station, operated by Edward G. Terrell, is one of 14 stations from the nation receiving the certificate of distinction in the gasoline service station category of the 12th annual "Brand Name Retailer-of-the-Year" contest sponsored by the foundation.

The 3-day foundation convention, May 4-6, will climax national Brand Names week. Selections for this year's contest were made by a panel of judges, who were the top award winners in the 1958 competition. To select the winners, the panel examined comprehensive presentations of the 1959 activities submitted by 571 gasoline retailers who had been named finalists. They were from all 50 states, District of Columbia, Canada and Puerto Rico.

Menasha Youth Seeks Academy Appointment

'Finest Group He Ever Handled,'
Coach Declares

Menasha — St. Mary's state champion Zephyrs continued to reap the fruits of victory, their latest bouquets coming at a victory jamboree breakfast Sunday morning in the gym. The breakfast followed a mass of thanksgiving.

Coach Ralph McClone told the large assemblage which included players, their parents, cheerleaders and fans, that this was the finest group he ever handled, one which followed instructions to a "T."

The coach commented that in the 32-30 win over Racine St. Catherine, the Zephyrs had to employ a different type of game than they usually play. He lauded the seniors for their tremendous desire, leadership and good example and expressed hope that next year's juniors would carry on in the same way.

McClone said that he and the team were overwhelmed when they returned home.

New High in Spirit

The Rev. Donald Stoebauer, athletic director, read a wire from the Rev. Joseph Becker, who is convalescing in Arizona, in which Father Becker said this year's team hit a new high in spirit and determination. The St. Mary pastor said that this was St. Mary's greatest team from the standpoint of teamwork.

Also read was a letter from the management of the hotel in which the Menashans stayed during their Milwaukee visit which commended the boys on their fine behavior and conduct.

The trophies won by the Zephyrs during the season were on display as were pictures, clippings and telegrams about the state tournament and homecoming. A tape on the last 3:05 of the championship game also was played.

The Law and You
Probate of Estate Long,
Complicated Process

Recently a nationally syndicated financial column was critical that the probate of an estate in New York takes so long. In Wisconsin probate of an estate is quite speedy. No one suffers from delay, and there are very good reasons for the many steps required.

There are so many unfinished details or business matters left when anyone dies that the settling of his affairs is more complicated than is generally realized. It is not as simple as just signing a few papers and turning his property over to his widow or heirs.

The purpose of a formal probate proceeding, whether there is a will or not, is to insure that the following things are properly done:

A responsible person must be charged with settling the affairs of the deceased;

The needs of the widow and minor children must be met during and after probate;

Proper taxes are paid on the estate;

Property is assigned to those entitled to it under the will, or if there is no will, as the law requires;

All of this must be made a proper public record and under the supervision of the county judge.

This is all to the good, for otherwise often the wrong persons would run off with the assets and the rightful heirs and creditors would be defrauded.

Estate requiring federal tax clearance (those exceeding $60,000) are necessarily delayed because values for federal tax purposes can be determined as of the date of death or one year later at the option of the estate, and final tax audit may not be completed for 18 months after that.

Since the executor or administrator is held personally responsible for unpaid federal taxes, he must hold back sufficient assets to cover the payment until final clearance.

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna Athletic club won the championship of the Kaukauna High school Athletic association basketball tournament with a 90-72 victory over the Menasha Macs Sunday night.

It was the second straight year the two teams had reached the finals and the second consecutive title for the Kaukaunans.

Krueger furniture, Kaukauna, won the consolation crown by edging West End Party Port, Appleton 67-64.

Overtime Win
In the semi-finals Sunday afternoon, KAC beat the Sugar Bowl, Appleton, 65-72. The Macs sneaked out a 102-101 overtime victory over the Shamrock bar, Kaukauna, in the other semi-final tilt, despite a 35-point performance by Darrell Jansen of Shamrock.

Don Carlson scored 15 field goals and four free throws to lead KAC in the finals. Ralph Karst hit 22 markers for the winners.

For the Macs Dick Rohe and "Skip" Schuerer each hit seven baskets for 14 points. Pete Burghardt had six buckets and three free tosses for 15.

KAC jumped off to a 18-17 lead in the first period and stretched the margin at half-time by scoring 23 points, while the Macs faded with 11.

The winners hit 25 in the third quarter while the Menashans dropped to a 68-50 disadvantage by scoring 22. In the last period KAC scored 32 while the Macs had 22.

'Campy' in Hospital For Observation After Suffering Dizzy Spell

West Palm Beach, Fla. — Former Dodgers catcher Roy Campanella is hospitalized here for observation after suffering a dizzy spell at the Dodgers Vero Beach spring training camp.

Club physicians said there was nothing significant in their transfer of "Campy" to West Palm Beach. They said facilities were better there for diagnosis and observation. He was reported resting comfortably.

George Bayer Leads by 4 at St. Petersburg

St. Petersburg, Fla. — George Bayer was trying not to think about last year as he teed off today for the third round of the St. Petersburg Open golf tournament.

In the same tournament in 1959, the huge ex-football player shot 135 for his first two rounds, and was leading the field at that point. Then he soared to a big 77, and although he came back with a 70 for his final round he finished seven strokes back of Cary Middlecoff, the winner with 275.

In the current tournament, Bayer also has 135 for his first two rounds, and a 4-stroke lead, so he might be expected to start his third round with some apprehension.

Dodger Outfielder Tom Davis (12) steals second in the sixth inning Sunday in a play that worked because Washington second baseman Rene Bertoia wasn't in place near the ball. The Dodgers went on to take the Grapefruit league game, 7-5.

Foxy Frank Lane's at it again, with his volatile temper reacting immediately to the hassle that has broken out over the Sammy White trade and threatens to shake the Indian chief's reputation as baseball's master manipulator.

Lane, a clever appraiser of player talent, already has taken a verbal scolding for the off-season deals that deprived Cleveland of 18-game winner Cal McLish and .300-hitting Minnie Minoso.

Likely Candidate
Now Lane may find himself checkmated over his latest transaction in an attempt to trade Cleveland into a pennant with Commissioner Ford Frick, a likely candidate to settle the stalemate.

Lane swapped catcher Russ Nixon for utility man Jim Marshall and White, an outstanding receiver with the Boston Red Sox.

White, however, pulled Lane up short. He retired. "The deal's off," said Lane assuredly Sunday.

"Lane hasn't got a foot to stand on," countered Red Sox.

The final two rounds were to be played today. In second place today with 139 was Lionel Hebert.

Jack Fleck, Doug Ford and Lee Raymond were next in line with 141s.

Belfast — Freddie Gilroy, 1161, Northern Ireland, stopped Billy Rafferty, 1171, Scotland, 13, (European, British, British Empire Bantam title).

Blond Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks has won scoring honors in the National Hockey league with 81 points to earn the Art Ross trophy and $1,000.

Stella's Takes Lead; Charles Pfister First in Singles

Stella's bar (of Hahn's Tavern league) has taken over first place in the team event in the twenty-first annual Appleton Bowling association tournament after the first two days of action. Action continues through Sunday, except for Thursday night.

Stella's walloped a 2,903, including a 3-game handicap of 54. Team members Bob Burmeister and Art Schlink jolted scratch series of 671 and 630, respectively. Heading the field in doubles were Herb Raminger and Gene Kronforst with a count of 1,227 (78-pin total handicap for three games). Charles Pfister is the singles leader on a 651, including a 42-pin handicap.

Team Scores
Team scores after Stella's include: Rougeau's Super Market of the Grocers league, 2,853 (117); August Winter, Builders league, 2,808 (135); Jahne Wrecking, Merchants, 2,743 (150); Hoffman Construction, Builders, 2,735 (204).

Ranking doubles counts, after the leaders are: Gib Melchert, and Milton Knaack, 1,188 (126); Ken Bastian and Dick Prenger, 1,183 (99); Carl Treichel and Arlin Burt, 1,157 (45); Bill Fulton and Bernie Stumbras, 1,152 (84).

Other singles leaders include: Jerry Ellenbecker, 628 (39); Carl Treichel, 627 (27); David Falck, 627 (78); Fil Greason 624 (18), Ron Garvey, 624 (90).

Birk Heads All-Tourney First Team

Wausau's Ungrodt, Schmidkofer Also Make Honor Five

Madison — Waukesha's Roy Birk — a high-scoring junior forward — was the only unanimous choice for the Wisconsin High School All-Tournament team named Saturday night by sportswriters at the forty-fifth state basketball tournament.

Other first team members included Mike Schmidkofer and Joel Ungrodt of Wausau, Jack Grenegan of Gale - Ettrick and Harold Fletcher of Menomonee.

The second team: Dave Sjoggerud, Wayne Sabatke and Ron Larson, all of Menomonee; Harold Shuddick of Rice Lake, and Jim Cahoon of Watertown.

Falcon '6' Compiles 24-32-1 Season Mark

Milwaukee — The Milwaukee Falcons finished the 1960 International Hockey league season Sunday with a 5-4 victory over Minneapolis. Milwaukee's season record is 24 wins, 32 losses and one tie.

4 Starters of Ohio State's National Championship Quintet Will Return

San Francisco — Ohio State's Buckeyes — young, talented and confident — are the 1960 collegiate basketball champions.

The underdog Ohioans, playing before a loudly partisan California crowd, upset Cal's defending champions, 75-55, Saturday night in the finals of the NCAA tournament.

The Buckeyes provided an awesome display of shooting accuracy, backboard strength and defensive stamina.

Joe Roberts' driving layup after one minute of play put the Buckeyes out in front, 2-0, and they stayed. The Ohioans led, 37-19, at half time and stretched their margin to as much as 22 points at times over a California team that led the nation in defense.

Cal's Golden Bears fought until the final buzzer, but they were not in Ohio's class. It appeared that the Bears had given their best effort the previous night in knocking off Cincinnati in a semi-final that matched the two top teams in The Associated Press national poll.

Ohio State, rated third in the poll, Saturday night looked like the finest team in collegiate circles since the 2-time national championship club of the University of San Francisco, a team that ran off 60 straight victories.

Four of the starting five will be back next year. Roberts is the only senior on the team.

Wailing Sirens, Cheers Of Thousands Greet Champion Wausau '5'

Parade and Speeches Honor Lumberjacks On Return From Surprise Madison Showing

Wausau — A happy and victorious Wausau High school basketball team came home Sunday. Wailing sirens and the cheers of thousands heralded the arrival. The Lumberjacks were champions.

The homecoming fun for the townspeople began early in the morning. Young people started to gather along the town's main street.

In a little while more autos appeared, gaily decorated with paper streamers and signs proclaiming "Welcome Home."

It wasn't long before the police and fire departments were alerted. The team was on the way. Wausau beat Menomonee, 74-65.

Coach Marshal Taylor's squad was met by a police escort.

Then, with sirens going full blast, the parade escorting the team moved through the city and to the high school auditorium for an official welcome home.

'You Were Great'
"You were great, boys," Mayor Ben Shuck told the team. "You really put up a battle to win. It takes something more than just power to do that. It takes real spirit to fight to victory."

Supt. of Schools G. W. Bannerman said he felt that Wausau's team deserved to win.

"They went in as underdogs but kept right on fighting. They had a somewhat erratic season but they hit their stride in Madison."

"I feel personally that our coach and team are champions in more ways than one. In everything, from fine spirit to good sportsmanship."

Wausau had a regular season record of 9-9. There were dire predictions the Lumberjacks wouldn't stand a chance at Madison.

Berlin — Gustav Bubi Scholz, 1644, Germany, outpieding first baseman and has power. His 2-run homer in the first inning Sunday started the Sox to a 12-2 victory over Baltimore.

Tigers Held Hitless After Third Inning

Lakeland, Fla. — The Detroit Tigers beat the Milwaukee Braves, 9-7, Sunday in an exhibition game that saw all 16 runs scored in the first three innings.

The Braves scored their seven runs in the second inning on three hits and got only one safe blow thereafter. The Tigers didn't get a hit after the third inning.

Hartman Hammered
Bob Hartman of Kenosha started for the Braves and promptly was hammered for seven runs. The Braves tied the score in their half of the second off starter Ray Semporch.

Bob Giggie pitched well after relieving Hartman in the second but was charged with the defeat. He didn't allow a hit in the fourth and fifth, and Ken MacKenzie and Tony Diaz held the Tigers hitless the rest of the way.

Al Kaline got a home run for the Tigers with two men on in the first inning.

Mel Roach, Braves' infielder who was handicapped most of the 1959 season with a bad leg, probably will be out of action for a week or 10 days.

An X-ray of Roach's foot Sunday revealed that he had a slight fracture, sustained last week when hit by a pitch thrown by New York's "Whitey" Ford.

Little Chance
Roach was disappointed because he has had little chance to play second base this year. Manager Charlie Dressen has been using him at third, shortstop and in the outfield.

"Before I wrenched my knee two years ago," he said, "I played 40 games at second and made only one error. So nobody can convince me I can't make it there."

"But instead, I've been either third or short the last four games I've played. And I know I won't play third. Eddie Mathews will be in there for all 154 games."

"I don't mind going out to left field. But I haven't played there for quite some time, either. I don't know what plans they have for me."

Rochester and Bobcats Split First 2 Games

Rochester, Minn. — Green Bay and Rochester split the first two games of the final 1960 Central Hockey league playoffs during the weekend.

Green Bay scored a 6-5 victory Saturday but lost, 11-4 Sunday. Competition for the best-of-five series shifts to Green Bay next weekend.

Rochester scored four goals in the second period and five in the third Sunday.

Paul Johnson broke a 5-5 tie Saturday in leading Green Bay to its victory.

Olympic Ring Hopefuls See Action Tonight

New York —(U)—A couple of outstanding Olympic prospects will be in action tonight when New York-East meets Chicago-West in the annual intercity Golden Gloves championship at Madison Square garden.

Vince Shomo, 18-year-old CCNY freshman from New York, will defend his 133-pound title against Chicago's Bill O'Shea, 19-year-old national AAU ruler. The hard-hitting Shomo won the Pan-American title last summer with four straight knockouts and has hopes of making the U.S. Olympic team for the Rome games this summer.

Lucius Clay, 18-year-old Louisville high schooler, and Chicago's heavyweight king, is another fine possibility for the Olympic team. The 178-pounder will meet Gary Jawish, a 22-year-old, 232-pounder from Washington, D. C.

Mesa, Ariz. —(U)— One of the Chicago Cubs' problems this year will be to find someone to take up the slack left by southpaw relief pitcher Bill Henry.

Henry, who was traded to Cincinnati, helped form an effective relief staff along with righthander Don Elston. Elston is still with the Cubs and will handle the duties for righthanders.

Manager Charlie Grimm is looking to southpaw Art Ceccarelli and Seth Morehead to fill in for Henry.

Two Eastern Bowlers Move Into Top 10 Of Petersen Classic

Chicago —(U)— Two East coast bowlers moved into the top ten in the rich Petersen Bowling classic over the weekend, but the three top leaders held their positions.

Tony Sparando of Rego Park, N. Y., shot an 8-game series of 1,633 to take over fourth place, just one pin behind Jim Whalen of Minneapolis. Marty Cassio of Rahway, N. J., posted 1,649 for his eight games, good for fifth place.

Roger Zirzow of Milwaukee has held the lead for several weeks in the $296,000 tournament with a total of 1,670. Ray Bluth of St. Louis is second with 1,656.

Bradley '5' Probably Won't Defend Crown

Beats Providence in NIT Title Game
But Looms as NCAA Entrant in 1961

New York —(U)— Chances are the Bradley Braves, the name team of the National Invitation basketball tournament for four years, won't be back next year to defend their championship.

The reason? They'll probably be too good!

The NIT has had the pleasure of Bradley's company since 1957 because, despite the Braves' outstanding teams, they weren't quite tough enough to win outright the Missouri Valley conference title.

The Braves came here to win their first NIT championship in 1957 when St. Louis filled the Mo Valley's commitment in the NCAA tournament. The last three years the Braves were available because a fellow named Oscar Robertson made Cincinnati unstopable in the Mo Valley race.

But now Oscar is through at Cincinnati and with such aces as sophomore Chet Walker and Mack Herndon, and Junior Al Saunders returning, it seems unlikely Coach Chuck Orsborn can help having a conference winner.

Backcourtiers lost Only backcourt aces Mike Owens and Dan Smith are lost from the 1959-60 Bradley team that won its second NIT title in four years Saturday afternoon with a whirlwind rally that crushed Providence, 88-72. And what the likes of Herndon, Walker, and Saunders plus sophs like Ed Wodka, Mickey Tieman, and Lee Edwards showed the Madison Square garden crowds left everyone wagging about the Bradley of next year.

Five of the 10 players named to the all-NIT first and second teams by The Associated Press were sophomores.

They included Herndon and Dayton's Gary Roggenbuck along with seniors Len Wilkins of Providence, Owens of Bradley and Sam Stith of St. Bonaventure on the first team and Walker of Bradley, Cornell Green of Utah State and Charlie North of Detroit along with juniors Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure and Johnny Egan of Providence on the second team.

Neenah Girls Shoot 625 in Rifle Meet

The Neenah Brigaders No. 1 rifle team, the first all-girl outfit to shoot in the Sentinel Junior Rifle championships in the Milwaukee arena, racked up a 625 score Sunday.

On the squad are Nancy and Barbara Zeumer, Judee Steinke and "Barbie" Law. Dick Zeumer, father of Nancy and Barbara, is the coach. Rockford West ROTC No. 1 shot a 737 opening day to lead Class A.

The top count Sunday in Class A was a 667 by Appleton YMCA No. 1. Other Class A scores were: American Marksmen of Fond du Lac No. 1, 654; Appleton YMCA No. 2, 599; and Neenah Brigaders No. 2, 654.

The top Class B count was a 720 by the Neenah Brigaders. Appleton YMCA No. 3 was third with a 696. Winning scores last year were 730 in Class A and 763 in Class B.

Robertson and Three Other All-Americans To Play in New York

Robertson of Cincinnati and Imhoff of California head the West team coached by Cincinnati's George Smith.

Lumberjacks Set Shooting Record

Sink .494 of Basket Attempts En Route to State Prep Title

Madison —(AP)— A Wausau team that wasn't given a chance when it came here for the 1960 state high school basketball tournament climaxed a spectacular and unprecedented march by winning the championship Saturday night.

The oft-battered Lumberjacks roared back in the final half in the championship game to overpower Menomoneie, 74-65, and win the title in the forty-fifth annual Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association tournament.

Starts to Click

Wausau ended its regular playing season with a 9-9 record after losing its last four games. Then it started to click and won five straight games in sub-regional, regional and sectional games to qualify for the finals here. Before beating Menomoneie, the Lumberjacks defeated Little Gale Etrick, 64-59, and upset heavily-favored Waukesha, 65-61 to qualify for the championship game.

Waukesha recovered from its knockout at the hands of Wausau by taking home third place honors: The Blackshirts beat Rice Lake, 92-68, Saturday afternoon. Racine Park defeated Gale Etrick, 52-51, for the consolation championship.

Ohio State '5' To Compete in Olympic Trials

5 All-Americans Slated to Appear in Denver Tourney

San Francisco —(AP)— The nation's top collegiate basketball stars—including all five Associated Press All America players—were named today to compete in the U. S. Olympic Basketball trials at Denver March 31-April 2.

Three of the teams in the 8-team Denver tournament will be Ohio State's Buckeyes, winners of the 1960 NCAA tournament here Saturday night, and two all-star teams.

Heading the list of individual stars are the AP's All-America five—Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, Jerry Lucas of Ohio State, Jerry West of West Virginia, Darrall Imhoff of California and Tony Jackson of St. John.

Four of the AP's second-team All-America selections were named: Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure, Terry Dischinger of Purdue, Roger Kaise of Georgia Tech and Chet Walker of Bradley.

The two all-star teams will meet in Denver March 27 for training before the Olympic trials begin. Ohio State will fly to Denver March 30. The winner of the tournament will be assured at least five and possibly seven spots on the team that will represent the U. S. in the Olympic games at Rome in August.

BY JACK HAND
Orlando, Fla., —(AP)— "Cookie" Lavagetto, a man who has known deep trouble, thinks he can see some sunlight ahead for the Washington Senators.

Despite the home run boom of 1959, it takes a real optimist to look past an 18-game losing streak and three straight years in the cellar.

The Senators did show marked improvement last year, winning the mid-summer headlines with home run clusters by Harmon Killebrew, Bob Allison, Jim Lemon and Roy Sievers. They had the shutout king of the American league in Camilo Pascual who also led the pitchers with 17 complete games.

At the end of the year the club was second to Cleveland with 163 home runs but last in club batting average at .237. All the power was right handed and leaky defense was guilty of the most errors in the league.

Deals Rumored

Washington was rumored to be involved in all sorts of deals through the winter. None of them were made, so Lavagetto must go ahead with what he has, plus some promising youngsters.

LaVagetto said he was hoping to make a starter out of Jim Kaat, a young left hander who was leading the league in strikeouts when he was called up from Chattanooga.

The pitching, back of Pascual (17-10) and Pedro Ramos (13-19) was shoddy last year.

That is why Kaat, a 6-4, 21-year-old rookie, has a shot. For relief, Lavagetto has Dick Hyde (2-5), Chuck Stobbs (1-8) and probably Truman Clevenger (8-5).

Lavagetto's infield plans are a bit indefinite, he admits. It all depends on the ability of Billy Consolo (.213) to do the job at short. And Reno Bertoia (.242) whose 42 homers tied Cleveland's "Rocky" Colavito for the league lead, is the third baseman. Sievers (.242) will be on first. There also is a supremely confident Cuba rookie who thinks he is a better shortstop than Luis Aparicio — Zolio Versalles (.153). He played with the Fox Cities Foxes last season.

Lemon, Allison Set

Lemon (.279) and Allison (.261), the rookie of the year in 1959 with 30 homers, are set in left and center fields. The rightfielder could be rookie Dan Dobbek who hit 23 homers and batted in 73 runs while hitting .265 at Chattanooga.

The catching is weak. Even Clyde McCullough, a veteran spring training coach, is under series consideration.

"Last spring I had only three men who played 100 games for me," said Lavagetto. "This year I have five. That shows progress. If the kid pitchers come through, we might surprise a few of them."

A's Rely on Former Yanks

Shortstop Hamlin Key To Bob Elliott's Plans

West Palm Beach, Fla. —ly would put Lumpe on short, return Klimchuck to second and play handyman Dick Williams (.266) at third. Wayne Terwilliger ((.267) and who must get acquainted with a new league and a new ball club.

"Right now I would say the key to my plans is Ken Hamlin," said Elliott. "If the kid can make it at shortstop, we'll be able to go along with our other plans."

"I want to leave Jerry Lumpe on second because I think he is a better second baseman than shortstop. That would put our kid, Lou Klimchuck, on third base. He has been a second baseman but I want to make that switch if Hamlin stands up, because I want Lumpe on second."

Nine Former Yanks

The latest cargo from New York includes Hank Bauer, Norm Siebern, Don Larsen and Marv Throneberry. Nine former Yanks are on the club.

Except for Bob Cerv and Bill Tuttle, the lineup of last spring has departed.

If Hamlin (.251 at Columbus) makes it, Lumpe (.241) will be on second and rookie Klimchuck (.315) at Shreveport) at third Throneberry (.240) is the first baseman. If Hamlin fails, Elliott probab-

St. Catherine '5' Nudged in Final Seconds, 57 to 55

Washington —(AP)— Archbishop Carroll of Washington scored three points in the final seconds of play Sunday to defeat Racine (Wis.) St. Catherine, 57-55, for the championship in the Knights of Columbus Catholic High School Basketball tournament.

St. Catherine was leading, 55-54, in the closing seconds when Bob Letsch missed a free throw. The ball was taken off the board by Carroll's George Leftwich who immediately called for a time out. Then Leftwich took the ball from out of bounds and drove in with a layup that gave Carroll a 56-55 lead.

Racine was charged with a technical foul at this point for taking too many times out and John Thompson made a free throw.

Hull, Plante Win Trophies In Final Tilts

Black Hawks Will Meet Montreal In Playoff Opener

By The Associated Press

Chicago's Bobby Hull and Montreal's Jacques Plante reign today as the National Hockey league's scoring champion and top goaltender, respectively, after hairbreadth calls in the last regular season games.

Hull won the league scoring title with 81 points, getting a goal and an assist Sunday night as the Black Hawks tied the Boston Bruins, 5-5. He trailed the Bruins' Bronco Horvath by a point going into the game, but the Bronx hurt his jaw late in the first period, and didn't score, even though he made a dash from a hospital X-ray room to play the third period.

Tied With 175

However, the Bruins' attack kept Chicago goalie Glenn Hall from the Vezina trophy, which goes to the goalie whose team allows the fewest goals. Hall and Plante were tied with 175 going into the final game, but Plante allowed only three in a losing (3-1) effort against the New York Rangers.

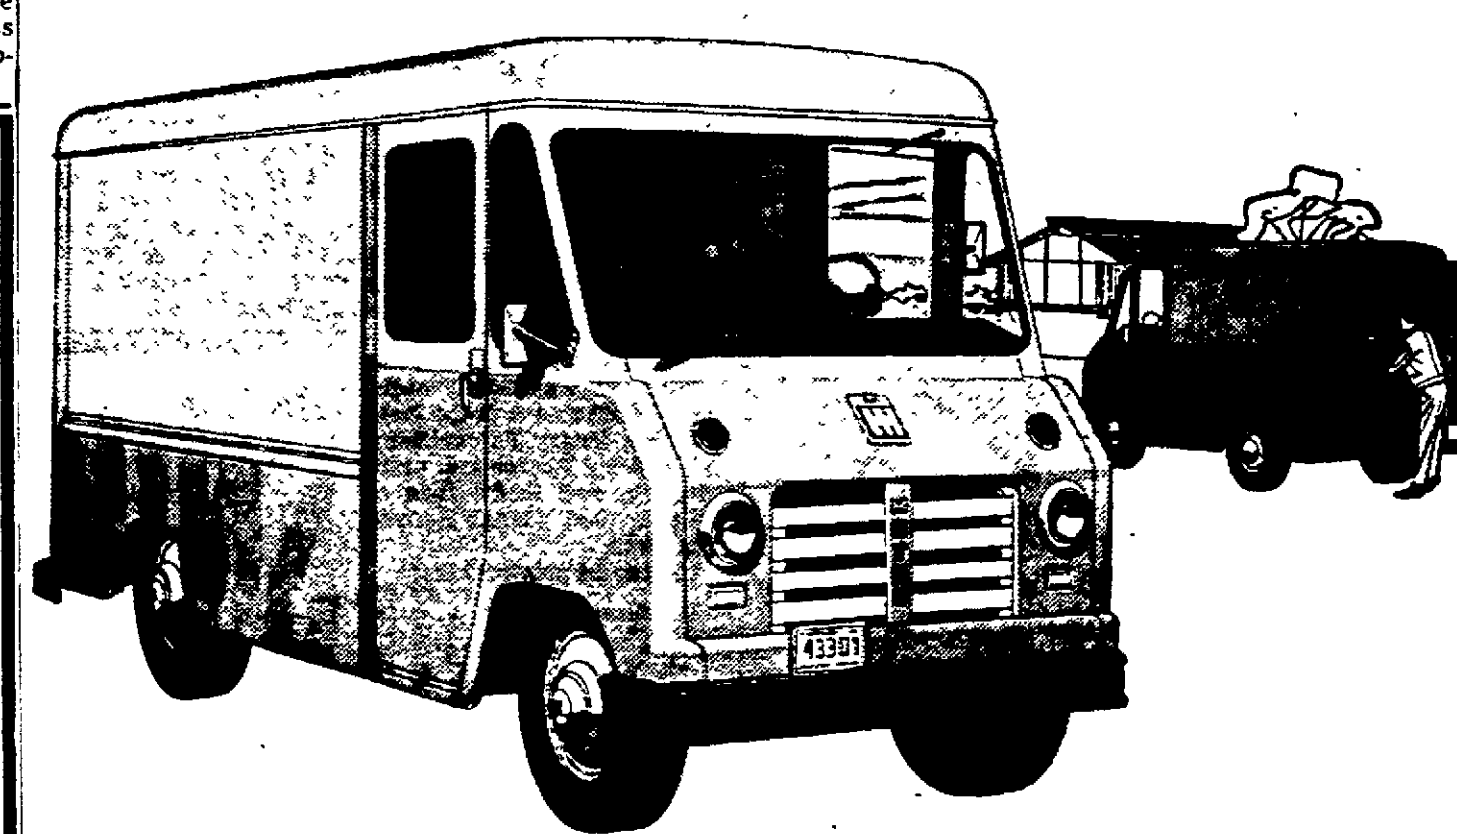

The Toronto Maple Leafs beat the Detroit Red Wings, 3-2, in the other game. The loss kept Detroit in fourth place, and Chicago finished third.

Under the Stanley cup playoff system, Montreal, which finished first, plays third place Chicago in a best-of-7 semi-final series, beginning Thursday at Montreal. Second place Toronto has a similar setup against Detroit, starting at Toronto Wednesday night.

Plante's trophy was his fifth straight, a record, and like Hull's award — the Art Ross trophy — brings a $1,000 bonus from the league.

Nelson Backs Peaceful Negro Demonstrations

Wednesday Last Day to Register

Appleton voters have until 5 p. m. Wednesday to register to vote in the April 5 primary, City Clerk Elden J. Broehm warned today.

There were 19,382 voters eligible to cast ballots in the April, 1959, election.

Voters who have moved since the last election, those who haven't registered before in Appleton, who haven't voted in the last two years or who have changed their names must register.

Broehm's city hall office is open from 8 a. m. to noon and 1 to 5 p. m.

Motors and Steels Down

Market Pursues Uneven Course in Moderate Trading

New York — Most steels and motors were down as the stock market pursued an uneven course in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Changes of most leading stocks were narrow, most of them well within a point.

The news background afforded little stimulus to stock prices.

Steel production in the Pittsburgh and Youngstown area was scheduled to be cut back six per cent this week. Auto dealer stocks of new, American-built cars climbed to a record 1,012,000 units in early March.

Gains by some of the chemicals, oil, mail order-retail stocks and assorted blue chips helped shore up the average despite the retreat by steels and motors.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .82 at 617.24.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .20 to 213.60 by the industrials up .20, the rails up .10 and the utilities up .10.

Corporate bonds edged higher.

U. S. government bonds were mixed.

Has Complaints

"But if they merely sit around delaying matters, I'll give them some work to do," he said.

Nelson said he has had complaints from both the Kennedy and Humphrey organizations about unfair campaign practices, but has not had the time to examine them. He predicted that the prospects for Democratic congressional victories in the Sixth and Third districts "are pretty good."

Absentee Ballots At Clerk's Office

Absentee ballots are available at the city clerk's office in city hall, but written application must be made on or before Saturday, April 2.

City Clerk Elden J. Broehm will hold special office hours for absentee voters from 5 to 8 p. m. Friday and from 9 a. m. to noon Saturday.

Registered voters who will be or expect to be out of the city on April 5, all persons, disabled persons, servicemen or those with religious convictions which prevent poll appearance may obtain absentee ballots.

U. S. Prepares Plans For Building Military Base on the Moon

Washington — Preliminary studies have been made in considerable detail for the building of a military base on the moon, a Pentagon official said today. But he conceded any such project is "some years away."

Maj. Gen. James Ferguson, vice commander of the air research and development command, said similar studies have been made for a manned satellite station several thousand miles above the earth.

Park Board Orders Clubhouse Razed

The Appleton Park board has ordered razing of the curling club's old building in Pierce park. Several requests had been made to study the clubhouse for possible use for archery and rifle clubs under direction of the recreation committee.

Residents of the area complained the building was a hazard to children playing in the vicinity.

The metal building on the site will be moved to Reid Municipal Golf course.

The grounds occupied by the building will be returned to park playground.

The curling club's new building is just east of Highway 41 and 125.

Two Men Drown Trying to Save Boy

San Jose, Calif. — A small boy who fell into a reservoir and two men who tried to save him were drowned Sunday.

Three Drivers Pay Traffic Fines

Three drivers paid fines when they appeared before Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede today and Friday.

Thomas M. Stulp, 49, of 338 W. Seventh street, admitted inattentive driving and paid a $20 fine. He was arrested by Appleton police last Oct. 9 when he sideswiped a car on E. Wisconsin avenue. The offense will cost him three points, the accident three more.

Floyd E. Bain, 22, route 1, West DePere, was fined $50 for speeding 81 miles an hour at night and charged six points. He was arrested by state police on Highway 41 near County Trunk JJ Jan. 23.

Defective brakes cost Ronald Peterson, 29, of 312 Sidney street, Kimberly, $40. He had skidded on the ice at 4335 E. Wisconsin road and pushed the wall of a house eight to 10 inches out of line.

May Seek Transfer of Relief Work From Counties to State

Tax Study Group Expected to

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — Total transfer of public relief program management and financing may be recommended to the state legislature by the advisory commission working on Wisconsin tax reform, it has been disclosed here.

James Doyle, chairman of a sub-committee studying tax distribution, said the group is "seriously" interested in such a basic reorganization of responsibilities as a means of softening the burden of local property tax rates and especially in the law tax base districts.

The total Wisconsin public assistance bill now runs to about $75 million yearly for about 105,000 persons. Of the total, the local property tax budgets carry about $22 million.

Basically Responsible
Local governments basically have been responsible for the care of indigents since the founding of the state.

Over the years localities have pressed for more and more state and federal assistance as their property tax budgets were strained. Apparently the study committee now feels that transferring the remaining local expenditure liability to the state treasury is a logical extension of earlier aid policies.

Such a reorganization would have a spotty effect in the state. The more wealthy counties would feel little result. But it would be a considerable aid to some of the poorer localities and especially in northern Wisconsin where the rate of indigency is comparatively high and the tax base is relatively low.

Some May Resist

State department of public welfare calculations say that the local tax equivalent of Outagamie county public assistance costs is now about one third of a mill for a total case load of 1,530 persons.

The additional state tax liability, moreover, would be reflected in relatively higher assessments upon the wealthier and industrialized counties and relatively less upon those with lower income tax bases, it was noted. That factor makes it likely that the legislative representatives of eastern and southern Wisconsin will resist the proposal for transferring of the program to the state budget.

County Administration

About half of the counties of the state now have a county-wide relief administration. In the other half administration of general relief is by local governmental units although such programs as old age assistance, aid to dependent children, blind assistance, aid to disabled and child welfare programs are administered through a central county office.

Only eight states in the country now have a state-administered public administration program, reported Wilbur Schmidt, director of the state welfare department. Schmidt said he is neutral on the idea, but observed that state supervision and management would likely be somewhat more costly.
